D. C. CHAIRMAN ORDERS STUDY OF MAPES TAX

MRS. NORTON FIGHTS CITY LEVY INCREASE

Supports King's Proposal to Cut It to Level of Appropriation.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

A House District subcommittee study of the Mapes tax bills, paralleling the fiscal relations inquiry already undertaken in the Senate, was ordered last night by Representative Mary T. Norton (Democrat), New Jersey, chairman of the House District Committee.

At the same time, Mrs. Norton expressed herself emphatically against any increase in the local tax burden so long as revenues exceed expenditures. She will support Senator William H. King's proposal to cut District taxes to the level of appropriations.

The subcommittee study was ordered immediately after Representative Carl E. Mapes, of Michigan, and Representative James A. Frear, of Wisconsin (Republicans), reintroduced their old $4,000,000 District taxation program, which passed the House last session, but died in the Senate.

Would End Lump Sum.

Mrs. Norton discounted chances of any special session action on the program, pending completion of the committee's inquiry. She appointed Representative Jennings Randolph, of West Virginia, and Representative Vincent L. Palmisano, of Maryland, Democrats, to the investigating subcommittee and announced other appointments will follow.

Meanwhile, Representative Mapes, sponsor of the program which forced an arbitrary slash in the Federal "lump sum" contribution to the District, disclosed a move is under way to have the lump sum entirely eliminated. He said the District ought to accept that proposal in exchange for the "privilege" of spending its own revenues in the way that it wishes.

The Michigan representative will run up against a stone wall of opposition in the Senate and in Representative Norton, who reiterated yesterday her belief that the District should have the ultimate say about how its finances are administered.

Mrs. Norton's Stand.

"I frankly can see no reason for imposing $4,000,000 in additional taxes on the District, if it is not to be allowed to spend the money it realizes on present taxes," she said. "There should be a reduction in taxes here, not an increase."

Representative Mapes said he will confer with Mrs. Norton to determine

State Search Starts For "Scottsboro" Girl

Decatur, Ala., March 29 (A.P.).—Search for Ruby Bates, missing star witness in the "Scottsboro case," tonight extended to every section of north Alabama, as preparations went forward for the first of the new trials of the seven Negroes under indictment on attack charges.

The girl's father today gave Attorney General Thomas E. Knight, jr., addresses at which he believed she could be found, and immediate check was started in an effort to have her available in time for the opening of the Heywood Patterson trial tomorrow.

Reserve Counsel Contends U. S. Has Right to Abolish State Banks.

(Associated Press.)

The Federal Reserve Board published yesterday in its monthly bulletin a hitherto undisclosed opinion by its own chief counsel, holding that Congress has power to do away with State bank systems and to concentrate the entire banking business of the country under Federal control.

Printing of the opinion at this time was regarded as of the widest significance in the light of events during and since the bank crisis, which climaxed at President Roosevelt's inauguration. In some quarters it was interpreted as a movement to actually set up a unified national banking system.

The opinion, greatly detailed and outlining methods of enforcing such unification, was prepared last December 5 for the Senate Banking Committee. Senator Glass (Democrat), Virginia, had requested it on the

PARK SAVINGS BANK FREES CASH MONDAY

Withdrawals to Be Limited to Special Bailee Funds of 400 Persons.

The funds of depositors of the Park Savings Bank which were in special bailee accounts may be withdrawn in full on Monday, The Post learned authoritatively last night. These funds total approximately $50,000.

The authority to release these funds was given yesterday to Richard L. Hargreaves, the conservator of the bank, by Acting Comptroller of the Currency F. G. Awalt. The money represents the deposits of about 400 persons, which were made after the bank went on a restricted withdrawal basis on March 1.

At the time of the imposition of the restricted withdrawals on March 1, the bank created special bailee accounts which were to be subject to 100 per cent withdrawals on demand. Customers who opened such accounts between March 1 and March 5, the date of President Roosevelt's bank holiday edict, may now withdraw their funds in full. These are the only funds which are to be released at this time.

As soon as the Comptroller authorized the release of these funds, the bank began a tabulation of the deposits in these accounts, so that everything will be in readiness to pay out on Monday.

Those depositors who owe money to the bank on any obligation, and who have money in the special bailee accounts, will not be allowed to withdraw their deposits until the obligation is liquidated.

For instance, if a customer had $200 in a special bailee account and owed a note of $100 to the bank he would have to pay the note from the amount on deposit and he could then withdraw the difference, which would be $100.

The audit of the bank's accounts, which show an apparent shortage of $1,600,000, has not been completed, and there is little prospect of a final tabulation being made for at least ten days or two weeks.

Yes or No?

Roosevelts to Decide in Conference About Serving Beer.

Just as will be done in hundreds of American homes, there will be a family conference at the White House to decide whether the Roosevelts will serve beer in the family circle.

But the Roosevelts are putting off a decision for the time being, though one will be needed when the President's gift of two cases from a Milwaukee brewery arrives. The President has already received a clock whose face depicts two men dipping beer from a barrel in time to the ticking of the timepiece.

Wilmington, Del., March 29 (A.P.).—A heavy, carefully wrapped package addressed to President Roosevelt caused a bomb scare in the Wilmington Postoffice.

Handling the bundle gingerly, an employe carried it to Postmaster Abrahams who, seeing his duty, opened it—and removed a 1-pint copper beer mug. It was repacked and forwarded to Washington.

HEARINGS OPEN TODAY TO BARE STOCK DEALING

Roosevelt Pushes Other Plans to Protect Investors.

CONGRESS APPLAUDS MESSAGE WITH BILL

Publicity on New Securities and Exchange Licenses Recommended.

His bill to throw publicity on security sales already before Congress, President Roosevelt last night fell to work on other legislation to carry out his three-point scheme of safeguarding investors and depositors.

Senate and House today will open hearings on the presidential bill to require true financial statements from corporations and governments offering stocks and bonds for sale. Legislators in both houses of Congress applauded as the bill's accompanying message was read yesterday, and later commended the aims and terms of the publicity bill.

There are three more steps in the program of housecleaning in the money market. One of them will be aimed at directors and officers of corporations who use advance information to guide them in trading in the stock of their own organization. Another will divorce investment banking from commercial banking. The third will be further measures to control the buying and selling of securities, through Federal licensing for stock exchanges.

Recent Severe Losses.

In transmitting the bill to Congress, President Roosevelt pointed out recent severe public losses "through practices neither ethical nor honest on the part of many persons and corporations selling securities." The Government does not propose to guarantee that security values will be maintained or the properties earn a profit, the message says.

"There is, however, an obligation upon us to insist that every issue of new securities to be sold in interstate commerce shall be accompanied by full publicity and information, and that no essentially important element attending the issue shall be concealed from the buying public," it goes on.

The bill provides that no security shall be sold or advertised in print or over the radio, or shall be moved in interstate commerce until a statement of the financial surroundings of the issue have been filed with the Federal Trade Commission. Buyers shall be able to recover possible losses from the sellers if the losses are due to material misrepresentation in the statement. The Department of Justice is also given power to prosecute in the case of false statements.

Officers or Promoters.

Information which must be contained in the statement includes names of the issuers, officers or promoters, the paid-up capital, number of shares of various types with their voting rights, dividends, profit and funded debt, assets and liabilities, in-

McCloskey, Attorney, Dies; Bequest to C. U.

New York, March 29 (A.P.).—George V. A. McCloskey, lawyer, author and poet, died of heart disease in a hospital today shortly before the burial of his mother, who died on Monday.

McCloskey, a native of New York, was regarded as an authority on corporate and admiralty law. He was 50 years old. Colleagues said the residue of McCloskey's estate, of undetermined value, was left to the Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C.

Al Smith Is Besought To Become Candidate

Friends Ask Him to Run for Copeland's Seat or Mayorship.

New York, March 29 (A.P.).—Pressure already is being brought to bear on Alfred E. Smith by his friends and associates, it was learned tonight, to persuade him to reenter the political ring as a candidate either for Mayor of New York City or United States senator.

The office of mayor will be filled at the November election, while the seat in the Senate now occupied by Dr. Royal S. Copeland will be the obect of a ballot contest in 1934.

Mr. Smith himself, a close associate said, has been noncommital with even his most intimate advisers, adopting the attitude that it is too early to decide on any course. But he has continued to follow the political situation, both nationally and locally, with great interest, and is said to cherish a hope of returning to public life in some capacity.

Even though he devotes most of his time these days to business and to magazine editing, he has never lost contact with public affairs, and many of his old friends who drop in to see him find him eager to talk politics.

Only one definite word has come from his office that he will have a hand in the November city election.

TRADE NEGOTIATION AT INTENSIVE STAGE

Hull and Lindsay Parleys Continue; French Debt Conversations On.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

Anglo-American economic negotiations entered their intensive phase yesterday after Secretary of State Cordell Hull and the British Ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, concluded a two-hour conference with this cryptic statement:

"The discussions of topics of general economic interest continued today. We shall meet again on Friday."

Up to the present time the bilateral discussions had envisaged the entire field of problems between the two English-speaking nations. The Secretary and the ambassador had entered into no definite understanding on any of the subjects on the World Economic Conference agenda, preferring to review in friendly conversations the varying points of view of the two governments. For the first time the discussions yesterday were solely concerned with the details of the economic agenda. British Ambassador Lindsay was accompanied by his commercial counselor, H. O. Shalkley.

A new current was detected yesterday in the international conversations, the quiet conversations that have been progressing between the United States and France, in relation to payment of the "deferred" French debt.

A very sympathetic attitude on the part of the administration to spare the

REALTORS TO PROBE HIGH RENT CHARGES

Special Committee Named to Receive Complaints From Tenants.

Organization of a special committee to investigate complaints regarding apartment rentals was announced yesterday by H. Clifford Bangs, president of the Washington Real Estate Board. The announcement stated:

"Any tenant or group of tenants believing they have cause to complain of the present rentals paid by them may file a statement with the board at its offices, 1417 K street northwest. Such complaints will be promptly investigated and if, after inquiry into the surrounding circumstances, they appear well founded efforts will be made to correct the situation.

"This inquiry is being conducted by the real estate board for the sole purpose of arriving at the facts and is in accordance with statements made by its representatives to members of the special Senate committee investigating real estate rentals."

This action follows the move taken by the board January 7, when it adopted the following resolution:

"That in recognition of the reduced income of the renting public of the District of Columbia, it recommends to the members of the board that they cooperate with each other and with the owners of rental properties in the District of Columbia to continue their efforts toward the equali-

Mrs. Roosevelt Will Use Olden Presidential Menus

First Lady Reveals Plan to Employ Recipes Favored by Former Occupants of White House to Vary "Economy Meals."

By VYLLA POE WILSON.

Epicurean touches, from recipes used at former Presidential tables, including savory herbs and a dash of "cooking sherry" contributed to the flavor of American menus which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will use at the White House as a change from the "economy menus" furnished her by the Home Economics Department of Cornell University. Mrs. Roosevelt made this announcement at the newspaper women's conference yesterday after her return by airplane from New York. The American menus will include the favorite dishes of early Presidents, many of whom paid particular attention to their food, according to authorities.

Mrs. Roosevelt explained that she is using the Cornell economy menus "in the hope of helping people who are interested in spending their money as wisely as possible for nourishing food."

"The American menus of Mrs. Sheila Hibbens," she continued, "I hope will interest people not only in good early American food but in the history that lies back of the recipes. I think this is a time when women ought to be interested in promoting an interest in the watching of children and in seeing that they are being fed properly. I think this is a time when we can teach a great many people who never knew before how to cook properly and not ruin their digestions. I knew one child who at the age of 3 was fed corn beef and cabbage who developed violent indigestion."

Mrs. Sheila Hibbens, who is the compiler of the American menus, is spending some time in Washington in

Bold Raiders Carry Off Officers at Point of Pistol.

BUCCANEERS ESCAPE IN SHALLOW WATER

Abduction Recalls Capture and Ransom of Other English Subjects.

Newchwang, Manchuria, March 29 (A.P.).—In one of the most daring raids in recent history, Chinese buccaneers kidnaped four British officers today from the British merchantman Nanchang while the vessel was waiting for high tide at the Newchwang bar.

J. R. Robinson, skipper of the Nanchang, immediately turned the vessel about to pursue the pirates, at the same time sending out an alarm by wireless, but the pirate junks escaped in the shallow waters.

British gunboats at once started a search for the pirates and the victims, W. E. Hargraves, A. D. Blue, F. L. Pears and Charles Johnson.

Taken at Pistol Point.

The kidnaping recalled the recent abductions by Chinese bandits of Mrs. Kenneth Pawley and Charles Cockran, also British subjects, who were captured by Chinese last fall and who arrived in Newchwang on October 20 after having been in the kidnapers' custody 44 days.

Fourteen pirates on two small junks boarded the Nanchang and, firing their rifles and pistols wildly, ordered the Chinese crew to show them the officers' cabins. From the cabins the buccaneers drove their four victims at the point of their guns.

Then the officers were bound and thrown over the side into the waiting junks, which are large vessels having lug-sails.

Ship's Cabins Looted.

Meanwhile, the pirates looted all the cabins on the Nanchang and wounded two of the Chinese crew in so doing.

Before Capt. Robinson and the chief engineer were able to restore order and get their vessel under way, the pirates had a head start which enabled them to reach the shallows, where the Nanchang could not follow.

The British vice consul, D. H. Clarke, who was in charge of the negotiations regarding Mrs. Pawley and Cockran, left Mukden for Newchwang.

(Newchwang is 25 miles north of Yingkow. The ransom paid for the release of Mrs. Pawley and Cockran was about $32,500, 250 pounds of opium and a supply of winter clothing. The original ransom demand was much higher. Their release was effected by a captain of the Japanese gendarmerie and a Japanese patriotic association called the Seigidan.)

Opelousas, La., March 29 (A.P.).—Herbert Richard, barber, of Sunset, La., early today shot and fatally wounded his three young daughters as they slept and then killed himself before the mother of the family, milking cows in the yard of the farm home, could intervene.

Two of the children, Merlic, 11, and Rosalie, 6, were killed instantly and the third child, Gerlic, 13, died this afternoon.

No motive could be learned by officers.

SENATE GROUP ENDS WORK ON D. C. BEER

Vote Is Likely Tomorrow on Bill Including Wine; Druggists Protest.

A favorable report on the District's 3.2 per cent beer and wine bill will be made to the Senate today by Senator Millard E. Tydings (Democrat), Maryland, chairman of the special Senate District beer subcommittee.

The report was ordered at a meeting yesterday of the full Senate District Committee, but the Senate recessed before it could actually be filed.

The thoroughly revamped measure must lie over a day under the rules, lacking unanimous consent, before it can possibly be considered by the Senate. Even if the chamber's dockets are clear, the bill can not be called up until tomorrow.

Tydings said he will press for consideration "as soon as the legislative situation permits."

Approval of the revised bill yesterday was by a vote of 7 to 2, with Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), Kansas, and Senator Carter Glass (Democrat), Virginia, opposing a favorable report. Chairman William H. King did not vote.

Only one minor alteration was made in the bill as rewritten by the committee Tuesday.

It was learned last night that a representative group of local drug store operators plan to call on Tydings in an effort to remove the ban on drug-store service of beer. As redrafted, beer can not be sold in any room not used primarily for the consumption of food. This definitely excludes most drug stores.

Rufus S. Lusk, Crusaders executive, declared last night that he will emphatically oppose any change in this provision. He said service of beer in drug stores is likely to prove objectionable.

Passage of the bill largely as amended was predicted in the Senate. Progress of the measure is likely to be slowed when it goes back to the House. Some members of that chamber insist they will hold out for the original form of the bill. In all probability the measure will go to conference, where a fight will be made by Tydings to save his "model" measure.

One of the last-minute changes made by the committee would permit the Commissioners to issue beer and wine licenses before April 7, if the bill is passed before that date. The licenses, of course, would not be effective until the day beer is legalized.

5-Day Trap

Finally Forced to Give Up Miner Entombed 75 Feet in Earth.

Mount Carmel, Pa., March 29 (U.P.).—John Cheslock, jr., 27-year-old miner, was removed from an old mine hole late today after he had been trapped for five days far below the earth's surface.

Rescue workers sank a 75-foot shaft in order to reach the entombed man, who was suffering from cold and hunger. He was wrapped in blankets and taken in an ambulance to a hospital immediately after he had been brought to the surface.

The workers heard his voice for the first time this afternoon when their shaft had reached a depth of 55 feet. He told them that his left leg was pinioned by a huge boulder and that the leg was badly crushed.

It was necessary to dig another 20 feet before he could be removed and the rescuers worked at top speed during the last few hours. Cheslock, who was trapped in an avalanche of stone and dirt last Saturday, was brought out of the hole at 6:30 p. m.

Passage Follows Parliamentary Row Over Item.

SENATE TO GET 3 AMENDMENTS

Gag Rules Suspended on Roosevelt Measure First Time.

(Associated Press.)

A huge and willing House Democratic majority yesterday floundered through a perliamentary maze, engineered by Republican opponents, but finally succeeded in passing President Roosevelt's bill designed to provide employment and conserve the forests.

Because gag rules temporarily had been thrown aside for the first time during House consideration of a Roosevelt measure, some amendments were inserted. This made impossible final congressional action last night, as the Senate must act on the changes.

While the House was talking about the forest conservation bill, the Senate got a foretaste of what is to happen today when it takes up the next step in Mr. Roosevelt's unemployment program—a plan to give $500,000,000 in relief grants to the States.

Paragraph Provides Snag.

Senator Wagner (Democrat), New York, explained the bill and said "it is but a small segment of the program necessary to bring us back to a better day."

Often during House debate mention was made of the $500,000,000 bill and the billion dollar public works program yet to come. But the snag on the reforestation measure was struck on something entirely different.

Proceeding serenely, and voting down all amendments but those approved by their leaders, the Democrats heard the clerk read a paragraph making available for the forest conservation program moneys already appropriated for public works.

Beedy, a Maine Republican, held that paragraph was not in order since the bill had been handled by a legislative committee instead of the Appropriations Committee. Lozier, a Missouri Democrat, presiding, agreed, and in the ensuing turmoil what Bankhead (Democrat), Alabama,

Plea for Second Judd Trial Is Lost

Trunk Slayer's Attorneys Fail in New Effort to Delay Execution.

Phoenix, Ariz., March 29 (A.P.).—Counsel for Winnie Ruth Judd, condemned "trunk" slayer, failed today in their attempt to obtain for her another trial on an unused murder charge. Her attorneys adopted the strategy of the defense in the Tom Mooney case in California without success.

Superior Judge Howard C. Speakman declined to act on a motion that Mrs. Judd be tried on a charge of murdering Hedvig Samuelson, one of her two women victims, and ordered the dismissal of the information in this case.

Judge Speakman held that whatever action the Arizona Board of Pardons and Paroles may take on her plea for clemency, it would be a waste of time to try her on the second murder charge. Mrs. Judd is under sentence to be hanged April 14, on conviction of murdering Agnes Anne Leroi.

CLOSING OF ALL OIL FLUSH POOLS URGED

Independents at Governors' Parley File Protests on Monopolies.

(Associated Press.)

The governors' oil conference yesterday adopted a report requesting sweeping Federal supervision of the oil industry and at the same time requested President Roosevelt to recommend to Congress a law prohibiting the transportation in interstate commerce of oil and oil products produced in violation of State laws.

A committee named to draw a program also recommended that the President call upon the governors of California, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico to "immediately" close all flush pools in their States until April 15.

The administration-sponsored conference, in which Secretary Ickes of the Interior Department participated, also recommended that the President call upon the governors and legislatures of the principal oil producing States to adopt laws, if not already adopted, to enable adequate curtailment of the existing flow of petroleum.

The conference further recommended that the Chief Executive request Congress for emergency legislation authorizing him to appoint a personal representative to cooperate with the authorities of oil-producing States "in bringing about a compliance on the part of said States with the program covered by these recommendations."

Secretary Ickes said that the administration had kept informed on developments at the conference, but had not yet approved the recommendations and that these would be given to President Roosevelt for study and any action he sees fit to take.

A dissenting report was filed by the "Independent Petroleum Association Opposed to Monopoly," headed by John E. Elliott, of Los Angeles. This group has been at odds with the other representatives of governors, major oil companies and independents since the conference began and they were not present when the final report was adopted.

Funeral Rites Set For Mrs. Burdine

Wife of Internal Revenue Official to Be Buried Tomorrow.

Funeral services for Mrs. Veronica C. Burdine, 45, wife of Ward P. Burdine, deputy collector of internal revenue, of Takoma Park, Md., will be held tomorrow at 1 p. m. at the funeral home of Warner E. Pumphrey, 8434 Georgia avenue, Silver Spring, Md. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery. The Rev. Thomas A. Calnan, pastor of St. Michael's Catholic Church, Silver Spring, will officiate.

Mrs. Burdine died Tuesday at Montgomery County General Hospital after a short illness. Mrs. Burdine, the former Miss Coughlin, was born in Washington and moved to Takoma Park when she was married to Mr. Burdine.

Besides her husband, she is survived by three children, Miss Florence Ward Burdine, Ward Pearson Burdine and Miss Jean Mildred Burdine; two brothers, Edward Coughlin, of Washington, and Vincent Coughlin, of Baltimore, and a sister, Miss Florence Coughlin, of Baltimore. She is a sister-in-law of Detective Sergt. Earl M. Burdine, of the Montgomery County police.

come, expenses and fixed charges, the new securities and the commissions and bonuses paid the underwriters. American underwriters of foreign bonds would be required to give this information also.

The keynote of the clean-up program was struck by the President in the last paragraph of his message, in which he said:

"What we seek is a return to a clearer understanding of the ancient truth that those who manage banks, corporations and other agencies handling or using other people's money are trustees acting for others."

Threat of Suspension.

In line with this policy, a measure restricting the speculative activities of corporation officials is being prepared. As officials, they are acting as trustees for other stockholders. The new bill will attempt, for instance, to prevent them from buying stock of their corporation as a speculation when they know a pending dividend will send up the price.

The use of banks or their subsidiaries of depositors' funds to push the sales of securities sold by the bank has recently come under the fire of Congressional criticism.

The separation of banks of deposit from bond-selling activities is the second step of the tripartite program. And Federal licensing of stock exchanges will place them under Federal control through the threat of suspending the license and so closing the exchange.

Iron Pipe

Wrapped in Chinese "Colors" Found in Pathway of Matsuoka's Train.

Boston, March 29 (A.P.).—Two lengths of iron pipe, wrapped in yellow and red hunting, described by police as "Chinese colors," were found today in the path of a train bearing Yosuke Matsuoka, former head of the Japanese delegation to the League of Nations, into Boston.

First reports led police to conclude an attempt had been made to wreck the train, but when the relatively light weight of the obstruction was ascertained, authorities inclined to the opinion that some one had intended only to frighten the Matsuoka party.

Nevertheless, they assigned four detectives to accompany the Japanese diplomat about the city until his departure at midnight, and a special detail of police was placed about the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, to which he went upon his arrival. The museum has a famous collection of Japanese art.

Authorities sent policemen into the Chinese district of Boston with warning to take into custody any Chinese who aroused their suspicion.

MRS. B. R. MARTIN EXPIRES SUDDENLY

Society Leader, Washington Native, Found Dead at Home of Mother.

Mrs. Bertha R. Martin, 35, well known in Capital society circles, who was found dead yesterday, will be buried tomorrow after services in the chapel of Joseph Gawler Sons, 1752 Pennsylvania avenue.

Her body was found early yesterday in the kitchen of her home, 2811 Dumbarton place northwest. Her mother, Mrs. Catherine Reinburg, found her body in a gas filled kitchen. Deputy Coroner Christopher J. Murphy issued a certificate of suicide, although members of the family insisted they believed death was due to natural causes and that a gas jet had been turned on accidentally as her body fell.

Mrs. Martin was formerly society editor of The Post. Only a few weeks ago she returned from Florida, where she had gone to regain her health, which had been impaired by a nervous disorder.

After she left the employ of The Post six years ago she became an interior decorator. Shortly before her death, she started work on a book in which she intended to tell of her experiences as society editor during the Harding and Coolidge administrations.

She was born here in 1897 and was educated in Mount St. Agnes School in Baltimore. She was the widow of John Martin, former member of the Evening Star editorial staff.

Richard M. Parker Funeral Is Today

Attorney Came to Capital 40 Years Ago From Pennsylvania.

Richard M. Parker, 78, Washington attorney for 40 years, died late Tuesday at his home in the Northumberland apartments, following a lingering illness.

Born in Carlisle, Pa., Mr. Parker attended Dickinson College in Carlisle, graduating in 1876. Shortly afterward he was admitted to the bar and began the practice of law. He came to Washington in 1893, and in 1903 married Miss Sallie Miller, of Kentucky.

Besides his wife he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Mary Parker McKeehan, of Pennsylvania. Private funeral services will be held at his residence at 2 p. m. today, followed by interment in Rock Creek Cemetery.

Long Illness Fatal To J. W. Colston

Beitzell & Co. President Had Been Resident of Capital 40 Years.

John W. Colston, 68, president of Beitzell & Co., Inc., soft drink dealers, died at his home, 1318 Floral street northwest, yesterday after a lingering illness.

A native of Clarke County, Va., Mr. Colston had been a resident of Washington for about 40 years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Margaret N. Colston, and two sons, Walker H. Colston, of Washington, and Hogarth W. Colston, of Clarksburg, W. Va.

Funeral services will be held from his home at 11 a. m. Saturday, with the Rev. Franklin Johns Bohanan, rector of the Rock Creek Episcopal Church, conducting the services. Interment will be in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Herzmark's Obsequies at Home

Tilden Street Resident Was Prominent in Jewish Activities Here.

Funeral services for Mrs. Freda Herzmark, 58, who died Tuesday at her home, 2927 Tilden street northwest, were held at her home yesterday afternoon. Interment was in Adas Israel Cemetery.

Mrs. Herzmark was the wife of David Herzmark, both of whom have been prominent in Jewish and Zionist affairs. She was one of the founders of the Washington chapter of Hadassah. Mrs. Herzmark was a member of the Jewish Consumptive Relief Society, the Sisterhood of the Adas Israel Congregation, the Council of Jewish Women and the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Hebrew Home for the Aged.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Herzmark is survived by a daughter, Mrs. John M. Safer, and a son, Dr. Maurice Herzmark, of New York, and several grandchildren.

Salisbury, Md., March 29 (A.P.).—Believing they were taking part in a routine fire drill, 400 pupils marched to safety from a burning schoolhouse here today just a few minutes before the ceiling caved in.

FARM RELIEF BILL ADVANCES 2 STEPS

Sheep and Cattle Section Is Kept; McAdoo Spurs Mortgage Help.

(Associated Press.)

The administration's broad farm relief plan pushed ahead over two Senate Agriculture Committee hurdles yesterday and its sponsors pressed forward with hopes of laying it before the Senate by tomorrow or Saturday.

Disposing of an effort to remove sheep and cattle by a 9-to-8 vote and a motion to limit the sweeping bill to wheat and cotton by a 13-to-4 tally, committee members turned their attention to discussing proposed substitutes and other amendments.

Meanwhile, another measure to help the farmer meet his mortgage debts and refinance them went along to the Banking Committee from the hands of Senator McAdoo (Democrat), California, former Secretary of the Treasury, who proposed a Federal farm mortgage bank.

Under McAdoo's Measure.

McAdoo's bill, which he said was not offered for the administration but "to assist Mr. Roosevelt in formulating a farm mortgage program," seeks to cut interest rates to 4 and 4½ per cent and provide machinery for refinancing farm debts.

In what form the farm relief bill to be brought out by the Agriculture Committee finally will reach the Senate remained a subject of speculation among committee members and senators, as a compromise was sought within the committee.

Production Costs Problem.

The proposal to insure the farmer production costs on that part of his crop going to America's tables bobbed up again as a basic question to be settled by the committee.

The production cost guaranty idea, proposed by John A. Simpson, president of the National Farmers Union, to be brought about by price fixing, was ordered by the committee to be prepared in amendment form so it could be voted on tomorrow.

Some members looked on the vote against limitation of the far-reaching administration plan to wheat and cotton and the refusal to eliminate cattle and sheep as indicating the Roosevelt bill would emerge about as passed by the House.

Others disagreed and said they felt members weren't certain yet of what they finally will do.

Homer S. Cummings Quits Attorney Firm

Bridgeport, Conn., March 29 (A.P.).—A formal announcement of the retirement of Attorney General Homer S. Cummings from the law firm of Cummings & Lockwood, of Stamford, to become Attorney General in President Roosevelt's Cabinet, has been received at the office of the Fairfield County Superior Court.

Mr. Cummings had been associated with Lockwood for more than 25 years, but his action is that customarily taken under rules of the bar when a member retires from a partnership.

League Man May Study Greece Capacity to Pay

Athens, Greece, March 29 (A.P.).—The government has decided to ask the League of Nations to send a representative here to study Greece's capacity to satisfy foreign bondholders.

Recently Greece paid 30 per cent of the semiannual interest on foreign loans. Premier Tsaldaris said last week that if foreign bondholders do not come to an arrangement with the government, Greece will write into the budget a sum for the payment of the foreign debt based on its capacity to pay.

Laundry Holdup Nets Dapper Robber $13.40

A lone robber, described as young and well-dressed, held up Miss Florence E. Bell, manager of a laundry office at Thomas Circle late yesterday and took $13.40 from the cash register.

Finding Miss Bell alone when he entered, the robber held her at bay with a revolver while he rifled the register.

MISS EDITH GUNDRY RITES.

Will Be Held at Brother's Home in Baltimore This Morning.

Funeral services for Miss Edith E. Gundry, 70, who died in Emergency Hospital Tuesday, will be held at the home of her brother, Dr. Alfred T. Gundry, 5002 Frederick road, Baltimore, at 11 a. m. today. Interment will be in Loudon Cemetery in Baltimore.

Miss Gundry had lived in Washington for many years. For 32 years she lived at the Dresden Apartments. She is survived by two brothers, Dr. Gundry and William T. Gundry, of Baltimore, and three sisters, Mrs. Grace Nichols, the Kenesaw Apartments; Mrs. Alice Phillips, Baltimore, and Miss Mannie Gundry, Falls Church.

AL SMITH BESOUGHT TO RUN FOR OFFICE

seph V. McKee, who was acting mayor between Walker's resignation and O'Brien's election, continue to talk of him as a strong prospective candidate. He is a non-Tammany Democrat.

The Evening Post says it has learned on good authority that Fiorello LaGuardia, former Republican member of Congress and C. O. P. mayoralty candidate four years ago, plans an intensive campaign for that office again this year.

Smith's associates say the former governor would rather sit in the Senate than in City Hall, if it were possible.

Dr. Copeland, whose term expires next year, is a Democrat, but was put into office by a party faction in New York to which Smith did not belong.

Mrs. Belle Moscowitz, Smith's closest political adviser before her death several months ago, often discussed the possibility of the "Happy Warrior" going to the Senate. Her idea was that he could be of great influence in that body.

Other associates since then have continued to discuss this possibility, but Smith himself, maintaining his customary silence "until things shape up," is just listening.

BOTHA, TRADE ENVOY TO CANADA, HONORED

Louw Host at Luncheon for South African Expert on Commerce.

Dr. Philip R. Botha, who has been appointed South African Trade Commissioner to Canada, was tendered a luncheon yesterday by the Minister of South Africa, Eric H. Louw. Dr. Botha has been commercial secretary of the South African Legation here for nearly five years.

After paying a warm tribute to the work of Dr. Botha, Minister Louw began a discussion of the steady growth of South African trade with Canada during the past five years and declared that this had necessitated a separate trade representative in that dominion. This does not, he said, indicate a change of policy on the part of his government with regard to trade relations with the United States.

Among those present at the luncheon were Julius Klein, former Assistant Secretary of Commerce; James A. Farrell, jr., Admiral L. C. Palmer, E. P. Thomas, James Hodgson, G. Campbell, W. J. B. Macaulay, Dr. J. Novak, Karl A. Bickel, Julian Mason, W. P. Montyn, P. B. Fouke, W. H. White, Ralph A. Towle, A. K. Canning, Angus Fletcher, Dr. D. Dow, M. J. Vechsler, A. P. Perry, A. Wyn Williams, W. G. Hildebrant, S. J. Maddock, E. A. Commaille, L. Horch, S. M. von Klenowski and J. N. Theron.

World Court Hits Senate Opposition

Johnson Leads Attack and Says Relief Should Get Full Time.

(Associated Press.)

Efforts by Senate Democratic leaders to obtain ratification at this session of the resolution for American participation in the World Court was given a temporary setback yesterday when stern opposition developed during a discussion by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The committee put off until next Wednesday a decision to report the protocol of adherence. Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, said he probably would press for favorable action then. He insisted, however, that the emergency relief program would be disposed of prior to any consideration by the Senate.

Senator Johnson (Republican), California, led the opposition in the committee, met in executive session in accordance with custom. Johnson told newspapermen afterward that the extra session "should be devoted to the relief of our people."

Woodring Is Slated As Dern Assistant

Former Kansas Governor Reported Selected for "Little Cabinet."

(Associated Press.)

Harry Woodring, former Governor of Kansas, was reported authoritatively yesterday to have been selected as Assistant Secretary of War. It also was said in high quarters that the name of Harry M. Durning would be put forward for collector of the port of New York.

Woodring had been mentioned in speculation also for the post of Governor General of the Philippines in the event Homer S. Cummings should continue as Attorney General.

There were indications that Cummings would be kept in the Justice Department post, but it was stressed that no definite decision has been made.

Cincinnati Adopts New Set of Laws

High Court's Rejection of Assessment Statute Causes Action.

Cincinnati, March 29 (A.P.).—City council clerks droned tonight through the reading of ordinance after ordinance, intended to replace those of the last six years, which the Ohio Supreme Court apparently held to be invalid.

Refusing a rehearing, the State's highest court upheld an earlier decision that an assessment ordinance was not legally in force if it was published in the official city bulletin, instead of a "newspaper of general circulation," which the law requires. Taking no chances, city officials promptly set about enacting a new, complete city general code.

The code contains more than 600 pages of closely typed legal matter. Clerks started reading it this afternoon. They are to keep on reading, all through the night and into tomorrow, until the job is done.

OLDEN WHITE HOUSE MENUS TO BE USED

order to confer with the White House housekeeper and to give instructions on the proper preparation of the menus.

Already President Roosevelt has been served with two of the menus, the high points of which were the soups Daniel Webster and Andrew Jackson liked to have served on their tables. The President, it is learned, particularly enjoyed the favorite soup of Old Hickory. Another soup that has been served with these menus at the White House is the crab soup Martha Washington used to have prepared for the First President.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who has been delving into the gourmet habits of the early Presidents, recalled that Thomas Jefferson first ate waffles in Holland and imported a waffle iron to this country—the first in Virginia—and that the founder of Jeffersonian simplicity also introduced vanilla and macaroni into this country.

Mrs. Roosevelt will keep the Easter Monday egg rolling for the children of Washington as simple as possible. She has accepted the offers of play leaders from the various local organizations who have assisted at these functions before to aid her in keeping the children happy. She will appear in the morning and the afternoon herself with the White House children and the White House dogs and a band will play.

Mooney's Counsel Asks Old Proof Be Produced

San Francisco, March 29 (A.P.).—Hope that the State will produce at the new trial of Tom J. Mooney, convicted preparedness parade bomber, all evidence and testimony in Mooney's original trial here in 1916 was expressed today by Attorney Leo Gallagher, of the Mooney defense, in a letter to State Attorney General U. S. Webb.

Gallagher specifically asked for production of the testimony of the late Frank C. Oxman, John McDonald and the Edeau women, in the hope of impeaching it as "perjured and frame up," he said in his letter.

Sailing Schooner To Lead Fish Fleet

Four-Master Off Today for Salmon Grounds of Bering Sea.

San Francisco, March 29 (A.P.).—With her jib cracking in the breeze, her main, fore spanker and flying jib and royals bellowing, the sturdy four-masted schooner William H. Schmidt sails from the Golden Gate tomorrow, the first of the San Francisco fishing fleet to depart on the annual trip to the Bering Sea.

The schooner will be followed by the three-master Louise and ten or eleven steamships will get under way within the next six weeks.

To Bristol Bay, Alaska, they carry between 4,000 and 4,500 men and return during August and September with more than 50,000,000 pound cans of salmon and about 2,000,000 pounds of codfish.

Poison Meat Kills 2 Chicago Children

Father Admits He Picked Up Tainted Food in Alley.

Chicago, March 29 (A.P.).—Through ignorance, John Frapaselli, father of ten children, a city street sweeper with wages long overdue, admitted today he unwittingly poisoned his family with meat which he found in an alley.

Two of the children, James, 9, and Anthony, 11, are dead, while four others are critically ill. Mrs. Frapaselli is near death. Four other children apparently were unaffected by the food.

In a jail cell, Frapaselli told of the desperate chance he took to provide his family with meat.

465 SEEK LICENSES TO SELL BEER HERE

V. E. West Heads Board to Draft Rules After Bill Passes.

With a total of 465 applications for licenses to sell beer on hand, the District Commissioners yesterday appointed a board to draft rules and regulations governing such sales as soon as the pending District beer bill takes more or less permanent form.

Vernon E. West, principal assistant corporation counsel, was designated chairman of the board after Corporation Counsel William W. Bride had declined the post. Mr. West has been the chief aid to Mr. Bride in drafting the bill which was recommended yesterday by the Senate District Committee.

Other members of the committee are Lewis E. H. Edwards, assistant superintendent of police, and Capt. Hugh P. Oram, director of inspection.

The committee will draft forms of applications and licenses to be adopted by the Commissioners and in all probability will continue as the board in charge of beer licensing once the pending bill is enacted into law.

Among the applications received yesterday was one from the University Club.

Randle Highlands Urges Beer Zoning

Resolution Against Sale Near Residences Is Adopted.

A resolution urging restrictions in the sale of legal beer within 2,000 feet of any residential community, was adopted last night at a meeting of the Randle Highlands Citizens' Association in the Benjamin Orr School.

The resolution was forwarded to the District Commissioners for approval.

William McK. Clayton was indorsed for a District Commissionership and the organization heard an address by M. O. Eldridge, assistant traffic director. Inspector Albert J. Headley, of the Police Department, was commended for his handling of a Communist gathering last week.

8 Utah Officials Face Rum Charge

Ogden Mayor and Sheriff Among Group Indicted for Conspiracy.

Ogden, Utah, March 29 (A.P.).—Eight city and county officials, including Mayor Ora Bundy of this city and Sheriff Amasa M. Hammon of Weber County, were named in indictments charging conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law, returned by a Federal grand jury here today.

Others named in the indictments, which followed investigation here by agents of the Department of Justice, are:

Fred E. Williams, city commissioner of Ogden; A. E. Wilfong, chief of the Ogden police department; L. W. Pack, police captain; Marion L. Christensen, city detective, and Deputy Sheriffs John W. Harterson and Krastus Bingham, of Weber County.

Newspaper Receivership Petition Is Repudiated

Knoxville, Tenn., March 29 (A.P.).—Chancellor Robert M. Jones today refused to appoint a receiver for the Knoxville Publishing Co., operators of the Knoxville Journal. The receiver was sought by J. O. Wood, stock salesman, who claimed the company owed him $4,727.50 as commissions on stock sales.

The court also refused to recognize an intervening petition filed by T. W. Goodloe, of Nashville, who claimed $3,650 due him for negotiating a sale of the newspaper to the Knoxville Publishing Co.

HANDS OFF BRITONS' TRIAL, SAYS SOVIET

Sabotage Probe Must Go On, Russia, in Sarcastic Message, States.

Moscow, March 29 (U.P.).—Soviet Russia has bluntly told Great Britain that any attempt to influence Russia's decision to try three British subjects on charges of sabotage would prove useless, it was revealed tonight.

In an ironically worded communique, the British representations were rebuffed and London told, in effect, to keep "hands off" in the operation of Russian courts.

The British subjects were arrested recently in connection with sabotage charges growing out of an investigation into the British representatives of Metropolitan-Vickers, Ltd. Six Britons originally were arrested, but three were released.

In an official communique, the government said that the British Ambassador, Sir Esmond Ovey, presented a strong protest to Maxim Litvinoff, foreign commissar, but was told that the trial of the accused men had already been decided upon and was irrevocable.

Sir Esmond was told that British attempts to influence the Soviet decision were useless, and that, moreover, displomatic pressure would not succeed in Soviet Russia. Such pressure, it was sarcastically declared, "might succeed sometimes in Mexico, but it is foredoomed to failure in the Soviet Union."

Sir Esmond was British Minister to Mexico for four years.

Previously it was indicated to Russia that Britain would take measures if the trial of the British subjects were not abandoned.

Torch Singer Hopes Child Will Become Aviator Because Smith Reynolds Was "Ambitious Airman;" Says Stage Plans Must Wait.

LIBBY HOLMAN REYNOLDS AND HER BABY.

Philadelphia, March 29 (A.P.).—Libby Holman Reynolds hopes her baby will become an aviator.

Breaking her silence for the first time since her son was born 11 weeks ago, the former Broadway "torch" singer said it would be the realization of a fond dream because "Smith Reynolds, his father, was a courageous and ambitious airman."

As for herself, any intention she may have to return to the stage must wait until the baby no longer needs her "entire attention."

For the present she craves a "private life, surrounded by the peace and quiet which every baby needs."

GERMAN JEWS ASK AID OF HINDENBURG

Prof. Einstein Takes Steps to Renounce Citizenship Action of 1914.

Berlin, March 29 (A.P.).—Leading representatives of German Jewry appealed to President von Hindenburg, Chancellor Hitler, cabinet members and the Berlin police president tonight against a Nazi-inspired boycott against Jews, which begins throughout Germany on Saturday.

Meanwhile it was learned that Prof. Albert Einstein has taken steps to renounce his Prussian citizenship.

Prof. Einstein, a Jew, became a citizen in 1914 when he accepted a position with the Prussian Academy of Sciences. Upon landing in Belgium after his recent trip to the United States, he wrote to the German consulate there for information about the steps necessary to end his citizenship. He pointed out that he formerly was Swiss.

The anti-Jewish boycott, the deadline for which was set by Nazi party authorities at 10 a. m. Saturday, already has begun in many sections of the reich. There were numerous reports of the picketing of Jewish stores and other repressive measures, but Berlin heard of no serious clashes.

Chancellor Hitler was quoted by the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung as having declared at today's cabinet meeting that it was necessary to take measures against the "atrocity campaign," as otherwise popular indignation might take undesirable forms.

The newspaper quoted the chancellor as saying that the situation now is under control and that violence by individuals must be prevented under all circumstances, but Jews must understand that any Jewish campaign against Germany would react most sharply upon Jews in Germany.

One of the principal anti-Semitic outbursts today occurred at Goerlitz, where about 1,000 persons massed before the courthouse, demanding the removal of Jewish judges and lawyers. Nazi storm troopers occupied the building and 35 Jews were placed under protective arrest.

U. S. RIGHT TO ERASE STATE BANKS UPHELD

strength of testimony by Eugene Meyer, Reserve Board governor, that competition between Reserve member banks and nonmember State banks had been seriously hampering banking in this country.

That Senate committee is planning to get to work again shortly on a new banking law. Furthermore, publication of the opinion occurred in the first Reserve Board bulletin issued since the new administration began.

The opinion, drawn by Walter Wyatt, the board counsel, turned on the point that Congress, having created the National and Federal Reserve banking systems, has authority to provide them with safeguards by eliminating competition from State banks. He cited Supreme Court opinions which he held sustained him, and offered as evidence of the competition the fact that Congress already has had to relax National banking laws to meet the more liberal practices of State banks.

Wyatt held that the foundation stone for the congressional power he proffered was the Supreme Court decision upholding the charter granted in 1816 to the Bank of the United States. With it he cited decisions which he contended left little room for doubt that Congress had ample authority to restrict to National banks the business of receiving deposits subject to withdrawal by check.

what disposition her committee will make of his bills.

The measures sponsored again by Mapes call for a 2-cent increase in the gasoline tax, an automobile weight tax and a graduated tax on local incomes. Representative Frear again offered the local estate tax bill.

All of the measures were substantially the same as those put forward last year. The income tax bill was rewritten to provide for exemptions of nonresidents, providing their States give the District reciprocal treatment. Members of Congress and officers appointed or elected for a definite term would be specifically exempted. Representative Mapes said he accepted recommendations of Tax Assessor Richards.

Chairman King of the Senate District Committee said he anticipates the Senate subcommittee study of Federal-District relations will extend through the summer. He said he will not offer his resolution for District tax reduction until Congress returns after this special session, and then only if revenues exceed expenditures.

Mr. King said he plans to make it retroactive to the beginning of the next fiscal year.

2 Dublin Officers Freed on Charges

Pair Accused of Violating Official Secrets Are Held Innocent.

Dublin, Irish Free State, March 29 (A.P.).—Col. George Hogan, an army officer, and Inspector William O'Connell, of the headquarters staff of the Civic Guard, today were acquitted of charges of violating the official secrets act. They were arrested February 17 and arraigned on six counts.

The contents of documents said to have been seized when the men were arrested were never officially made public.

Col. Hogan is a brother of Patrick Hogan, former minister of agriculture.

BRITISH NEGOTIATION IN INTENSIVE STAGE

susceptibilities of the French government with regard to their defaulted payment was perceived. It was learned yesterday that private assurances had been given President Roosevelt by several private bankers, among them Frank Altschul, of Lazard Freres, the famous international banking firm, that France would acquit her international obligations at such a time as would enable her to maintain her personal and private opinions on the conditions of payment.

Yesterday it was reported from the French Chamber of Deputies that Foreign Minister Paul-Boncour had informed the Chamber of the necessity of ceasing all debate on the debt subject pending the negotiation of the conditions of the debt between the two countries, and was supported by the finance committee of the Chamber. It was reported in The Washington Post that the new French Ambassador, Andre Lefevre de la Boulaye, would be the first to undertake the revision of the debt between the two countries. This was confirmed yesterday in authoritative circles where the preliminary negotiations of the French financial counselor, Emmanual Monnick, were first revealed. M. Monnick, in company with the French Ambassador, Paul Claudel, had seen President Roosevelt on two different occasions before the inauguration. At these two conversations the French Ambassador and his financial counselor had gone into the details of the French payment, and it is on this basis that the future conversations with the Quai d'Orsay will be inaugurated.

Securities Protection Message of President

President Roosevelt's message to Congress on securities is as follows:

I recommend to the Congress legislation for Federal supervision of traffic in investment securities in interstate commerce.

In spite of many State statutes the public in the past has sustained severe losses through practices neither ethical nor honest on the part of many persons and corporations selling securities.

Of course, the Federal Government can not and should not take any action which might be construed as approving or guaranteeing that newly issued securities are sound in the sense that their value will be maintained, or that the properties which they represent will earn profit.

There is, however, an obligation upon us to insist that every issue of new securities to be sold in interstate commerce shall be accompanied by full publicity and information, and that no essentially important element attending the issue shall be concealed from the buying public.

This proposal adds to the ancient rule of caveat emptor the further doctrine, "Let the seller also beware." It puts the burden of telling the whole truth on the seller. It should give impetus to honest dealing in securities and thereby bring back public confidence.

The purpose of the legislation I suggest is to protect the public with the least possible interference to honest business.

This is but one step in our broad purpose of protecting investors and depositors. It should be followed by legislation relating to the better supervision of the purchase and sale of all property dealt in on exchanges, and by legislation to correct unethical and unsafe practices on the part of officers and directors of banks and other corporations.

What we seek is a return to a clearer understanding of the ancient truth that those who manage banks, corporations and other agencies handling or using other people's money are trustees acting for others.

DOLLFUSS WARNED BY AUSTRIAN NAZIS

Vienna Dictator Threatened by Hitler Adherents Who Defy Police.

Vienna, March 29 (A.P.).—Warning that any agreement signed by the dictatorial regime of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss would not be recognized and that members of the present government were risking their lives was printed today by Deutschoesterreichische Tageszeitung, organ of the Austrian Nazis.

Newspapers containing the warning were confiscated soon after their appearance.

The warning appeared only a few hours after Nazi demonstrators marched through the inner city in defiance of government decrees, shouting allegiance to Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany and smashing windows in coffee shops and places of business.

Chancellor Dollfuss was granted dictatorial powers soon after Chancellor Hitler's National Socialist party was triumphant in Reichstag and Prussian Diet elections in Germany March 5.

2 Takoma Park Youths Seized as Auto Stealers

Two Takoma Park youths were arrested yesterday as the result of a chase Tuesday night by Washington police which ended in the fugitive car bumping on to the railroad tracks at Langdon, where it was demolished by a fast freight train. The youths gave their names as Charles R. Clark, 16, and Horace R. Jenkins, 15.

They were arrested by Town Policeman Earl Thomas, who said they had confessed to the theft of five automobiles which they drove until they ran out of gasoline and then abandoned. They were arrested as the result of a letter found in the wrecked car.

Hitler Made Honorary Citizen by Austrian City

Imst, Austria, March 29 (A.P.).—Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany was voted honorary citizenship by the city council today. At the same session six of the fifteen aldermen announced their resignations from the political parties with which they are affiliated and the transfer of their allegiance to the National Socialist party.

Adolf Hitler is a native of Austria, but he forfeited his Austrian citizenship by joining the German army in 1914. Last year he was formally granted German citizenship.

Railways Plan Joint Operation of Trains

New York, March 29 (A.P.).—Tangible results in the campaign of the railroads to eliminate waste and duplication in passenger services were seen today in the joint announcement of the Pennsylvania and Wabash systems that they would consolidate their trains on the Chicago-Detroit run beginning April 2.

The consolidation, it was estimated, would effect for the Wabash a saving of 40,000 passenger miles monthly.

Roanoke's Boatswain Lost in Savannah River

Savannah, Ga., March 29 (A.P.).—Gilbert Nutini, boatswain aboard the Merchants & Miners Transportation Co. vessel, Roanoke, was lost overboard in the lower Savannah River yesterday afternoon, one hour after the ship had left its berth here bound for Philadelphia.

Search for trace of the boatswain is being made, Government and pilot agencies having been advised of the incident. The vessel is proceeding on its voyage.

Mill Strike Fades Out.

Martinsville, Va., March 29 (A.P.).—With the majority of workers back at their jobs, practically normal conditions were resumed at the Martinsville cotton mills today. A strike was called yesterday in protest against a wage cut.

GIRL TELLS COURT OF PASTOR'S ACTS

Plaintiff Declares Minister Threatened Her Life When Repulsed.

Muncie, Ind., March 29 (A.P.).—Miss Helen Huffman, 18-year-old Sunday school teacher, today repeated in a crowded courtroom her story of alleged amorous advances made by the Rev. G. Lemuel Conway, suspended pastor of the Madison Street M. E. Church.

The Rev. Mr. Conway, under a year's suspension following his conviction by a church jury on a charge of imprudent ministerial conduct, is now on trial for assault and battery with intent to commit criminal assault on the young woman.

Miss Huffman testified that after inviting her to ride downtown with him, the minister instead took her in his automobile to a lonely spot near a brook where, she said, the attempted attack occurred.

Miss Huffman testified that her resistance brought a threat of violence.

"'How would you like to find yourself with your head in the mud of that creek and your shoes floating down the river?'" Miss Huffman said she was asked.

The young woman said the minister also threatened to pull her hair.

After repeated protests, the minister finally ceased his advances, Miss Huffman testified, and took her back to Muncie.

At the city limits the pastor said, "We're going to keep this a secret aren't we Helen?" Miss Huffman testified.

The witness said she went to her home and told her mother of the incident.

Miss Huffman was the first witness following selection of the jury and an opening statement by Prosecuting Attorney Paul Leffler. The pastor's attorneys waived the right to an opening statement.

FORESTRY MEASURE IS PASSED BY HOUSE

called "the very heart of the bill" was stricken out.

Democratic leaders immediately forced a recess. They decided at first to delay passage until today. Then they had the Rules Committee meet and report out a resolution making the controverted paragraph in order despite anything parliamentarians might say.

The rule needed a two-thirds majority. It was adopted 189 to 91.

Had that paragraph been eliminated from the bill; it was explained on the floor, the President would have his program but no money to spend on it.

When time came for final passage, Republicans remained content with their earlier victory, even though it was only temporary.

On a thunderous chorus of "Ayes," and without even a standing vote, the bill was passed and sent back to the Senate. Unless the Senate approves the changes, a conference will be asked between the Senate and House.

There were, however, only three amendments approved by the House. One was that restoring the money. It was offered by Ramspeck (Democrat), Georgia, who had charge of the measure since Connery (Democrat), Massachusetts, chairman of the House Labor Committee, opposed it.

22 Amendments Offered.

Another, led by De Priest (Republican), Illinois, specified that in the selection of workers for the conservation corps there should be no discrimination because of race, color, creed, or criminal records. De Priest is the only Negro member of the House.

The third amendment was proposed by Representative Byrns, of Tennessee, Democratic floor leader. It gives the President power to purchase all real property he chooses. The Senate would have limited these purchases to property contiguous to that already owned by the government.

In all, 22 amendments were offered. That by Connery, to specify minimum wages of $50 monthly to single and $80 to married men, instead of leaving the pay to the President, was defeated 290 to 90.

Later, when Connery offered his amendment in the form of a motion to send the bill back to the committee, he was shouted down without a standing vote.

Naval Visitor at Seattle Urges Understanding of U. S. and Tokyo.

Seattle, March 29 (A.P.).—In a written statement today, Vice Admiral Gengo Hyakutake, commander of the Japanese naval training squadron of two vessels, which arrived yesterday for a four-day stay, said despite "a few irritating experiences," there has been a "steady growth of appreciation and understanding between the United States and Japan."

"The ocean was not placed here for us to quarrel over," he wrote. "We are here on a friendly visit to express our honest desire to cooperate with you in fulfilling our common mission in the Pacific. We are receiving here a very sincere and enthusiastic reception and I am especially grateful for the kind expressions of generosity and friendship."

MONTGOMERY FILM MEASURE ADVANCES

Bill to Liberalize Sunday Laws May Be Passed by House Today.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., March 29.—The bill to permit Sunday moving pictures and otherwise loosen the Sunday laws in Montgomery County apparently is on the road to final enactment in the Maryland Assembly. The measure was brought before the House with a favorable report late last night and was amended to make it countywide, and was passed to the third reading file. Its passage by that body probably tomorrow is indicated and it then will be sent to the Senate, where favorable action also is indicated.

The bill is a county administration measure and its course through the Legislature has not been without opposition from church folk of the county.

One Statewide measure that threatens to intensify the jam of the last four days of the session was shuffled aside during an after-midnight session of the Senate today. This was the bill to repeal the "Jim Crow" law, that requires railroad and steamboat companies to segregate white and colored passengers. The bill was favorably reported by the judicial proceedings committee, but the Senate rejected the report by a vote of 12 to 11.

The House moved to expedite business by adopting a rule to limit debate to five minutes by each member, and three minutes for explaining votes.

More than a score of bills embracing legislation for Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties were included in a big group passed by the Senate late today. They are measures that originated in the House and are therefore ready to be placed before the governor for final approval. Most important of these were measures reducing membership of the Montgomery County commissioners from seven to five; authorizing the commission appoint brokers to sell bonds and decreasing the pay of county commissioners of Prince Georges.

Bethesda Mass Meeting Asks Freer Sunday Law

Liberalization of the Sunday blue laws to permit the showing of moving pictures and baseball were urged at a mass meeting yesterday in the State Theater, Bethesda, Md. John H. Hiser, proprietor of the theater, presided, while Thomas E. Hampton acted as secretary. State Senator Robert G. Hilton was unable to be present, but Dr. George Edmonds, chairman of the Montgomery County delegation in the Maryland House of Delegates, was present to hear the proponents of the measure.

Among those who spoke in favor of Sunday movies and baseball were Samuel E. Stonebraker, representing the Bethesda Chamber of Commerce; B. R. English, the Silver Spring Lions Club; Dr. C. S. Longacre and the Rev. P. D. Nichol, of the Seventh Day Adventist denomination at Takoma Park; Bernard Brosius, Rockville Chamber of Commerce; Walter R. Tuckerman, Edgemoor; A. S. Magee, Bethesda-Chevy Chase Post, American Legion; Mrs. Fred Imirie, Zonta Club; S. H. Miller, of Bethesda. Unable to be present, Walter B. Armstrong, secretary of the Montgomery County Civic Federation, sent a telegram conveying his hope that the law would be liberalized.

Fred Johnson, 53, an employe of the Wells Service Station at Woodbridge, Va., was probably fatally injured late yesterday when struck by an automobile on the Richmond-Washington highway about one-half mile south of Woodbridge.

He was removed to Alexandria Hospital and treated for scalp injuries, broken legs, and possible internal injuries.

Police said he was struck by the car of Jack Anderson, of Stafford Courthouse, Va. He apparently was hit while walking along the highway.

MEDICAL RUM CURB RENEWED IN SENATE

members knew what had happened. It was sent to the House, where leaders planned to approve it today.

Merely providing that "no more liquor shall be prescribed to any person than is necessary to supply his medical needs," the bill would repeal the Volstead law's provisions that a physician may issue only 100 prescriptions a month and not more than a pint to a patient each ten days.

The medical liquor bill, sponsored by a physician, Senator Copeland (Democrat), New York, was called up in the Senate by Senator King (Democrat), Utah, and passed without a word of debate.

When the clerk finished reading it for action on committee amendments, Vice President Garner quickly droned out the formula—"Without objection, the bill is passed"—and even the ever-watchful Sheppard (Democrat), Texas, was caught napping.

Without apparently realizing the bill had passed Sheppard voiced his opposition to it, and said he would watch its operation carefully because he had "many misgivings about it."

Senator Robinson, Democratic leader, suggested that at least the bill's sponsors should explain its provisions to the Senate, but King replied that was not necessary as the measure had passed already.

Vice President Garner joined in the laughter at the expense of Robinson and Sheppard.

In reporting the bill the Senate Judiciary Committee estimated it would save $110,000 a year by the use of stamps instead of prescription blanks, would permit patients all the liquor they needed, and would insure them secrecy regarding their ailments.

At the present time, physicians are required to report to the Government the ailment requiring prescription of liquor, but the bill would repeal this regulation.

The House passed a similar bill at the last session of Congress, but it failed to obtain action in the Senate. A similar bill already has been approved this session by the House Judiciary Committee.

The Federal Diary

By GEORGE D. RILEY

ORGANIZED Government employes feel that turn about is fair play, and are endeavoring to put that principle into practice by demanding a reduction in housing costs in the District because of the 15 per cent salary reduction just imposed upon them by Congress.

With this thought in mind, the District Department of the American Federation of Government Employes is sponsoring a mass meeting Friday (March 31) night at the McKinley High School auditorium to protest against high cost of housing in the National Capital. They are not confining the movement to Federal workers, but are inviting all wage earners and their organizations to join with them.

The committee in charge of the meeting thus describes the situation they believe should be corrected:

"The American people at present are passing through a period of deflation. Their incomes have been reduced and millions are without the means or opportunity to earn a livelihood. This has come about through no fault of their own, but rather as a result of circumstances which plunged the country into a severe economic depression.

"As one surveys living costs in various sections, and particularly in Washington, it is plain that further adjustment and reduction of costs of certain commodities and necessaries must be brought about even if those earning a livelihood are able to meet their most pressing expenses. An investigation of living costs reveals that housing still stands out as representing a too great portion of the worker's income. This must be adjusted to fit his restricted purchasing power."

Those arranging the mass meeting are C. M. Mears, Washington Panama Canal Lodge; Miss Fanny P. Lamson and Charles E. Ridgway, jr., Commerce Department Lodge, and J. P. Simpson, Interstate Commerce Commission Lodge, A. F. G. E.

So many troubles and worries,
Never a hope in sight,
But the hyacinths in my garden

So many losses and failures,

But close to a sheltering hedgerow
Three daffodils are in bloom.

The sun hasn't failed or defaulted,
Rain falls and the new grasses start,
So my dream blooms again in secret
And a song pushes up from my heart.

The Patent Office tomorrow will extend best wishes to two veterans of that service, one who has served the Government within three months of a half century, the other has been toiling for Uncle Sam nearly 34 years.

With 50 years' service in the Patent Office, Frank C. Skinner, 1427 Crittenden street northwest, examiner in chief, has applied for retirement, after having received three extensions over the retirement limit. Mr. Skinner was born in Lawrence, Mass., March 28, 1857, and was educated there, graduating from Lawrence High School. After attending M. I. T. a year he was appointed to the Naval Academy in 1874, from which he resigned in 1877 because he thought a naval officer's future prospects were poor. He moved to Lewiston, Me., studied law and was graduated from the Albany (N.Y.) Law School in 1879. He practiced law in Nebraska a short time and then was employed by several industrial concerns in St. Louis.

Appointed to the Patent Office in 1883, Mr. Skinner became principal examiner in August, 1888, and organized the classificiation division Patent Office in 1898. Theodore Roosevelt signed the appointment advancing Mr. Skinner to examiner in chief in December, 1908, which office he has occupied to the present time. He became a member of the Board of Appeals in January, 1909, and has been a member for nearly 25 years. In August, 1932, Mr. Skinner was exempted from the rules of the economy act by President Hoover that he might continue in office. He has no immediate plans, but to rest. Later he may open a patent law office.

Eustace S. Glascock, 3624 Van Ness street northwest, supervisory examiner, Patent Office, also will retire tomorrow. Mr. Glascock entered service in the Patent Office as fourth assistant examiner October 21, 1899. Length of service, 33 years 5 months and 10 days.

6 IN $60,000 DENVER ABDUCTION INDICTED

Two in Boettcher Kidnaping Are Fugitives; New U. S. Law Is Invoked.

Denver, Colo., March 29 (A.P.).—Six persons were indicted by a Federal grand jury here today in connection with the kidnaping for ransom of Charles Boettcher 2d, scion of a wealthy pioneer family, for whose release $60,000 was paid.

The indictments were under the "Lindbergh law" which leaves the penalty to the discretion of the trial judge.

Verne Sankey and Gordon Elkhorn, fugitives, were named as the alleged leaders of the Boettcher kidnapers.

Others indicted were:

Mrs. Fern Sankey, wife of the fugitive.

Mrs. Ruth Kohler, her sister.

Arthur Youngberg, alleged to have been Boettcher's guard during his 17 days of captivity.

Carl W. Pearce, who police said has admitted copying on a typewriter the ransom notes sent to Claude K. Boettcher, the victim's father.

All but Sankey and Elkhorn are held in jail here.

The indictments are predicated on alleged use of the mails by the kidnapers in delivering their messages to the relatives of the young broker. The "Lindbergh law" was passed by Congress after the kidnaping of the first son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Count Szechenyi Sails Tonight for Hungary.

The retiring Minister of Hungary, Count Lazlo Szechenyi, will sail tonight on the Bremen to his home in Hungary before going to his new post at the Court of St. James. Countess Szechenyi and her daughters will spend part of the summer at the home of the countess' mother, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, the Breakers, in Newport, before joining the minister in London. ## Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

ONE can't just dismiss the mannish mode with a "pouf!" Paris naturally tries to do so, because it is a menace to her leading industry, the style industry. But it can not be thus dismissed.

There has been many a tentative attempt on the part of women to free themselves from the demands of fashion and frills—in 1893 a very decided run on men's attire raised a storm of comment then as now. But now—there is going to be more to it. More, I say, because the trousers and tailored jacket and accessories that accompany them, are quite as good taste and sensible for many occasions as they are, for instance, for riding. Many a sport practically demands this type of suit, bicycling, for instance. Riding, of course, traveling, especially in airplanes, the travel of today and certainly of the future—hunting, hiking—just think of the sports that are best dressed for in trousers!

The business woman can undoubtedly increase her comfort and her efficiency in this type of mannish suit. The professional woman, lawyer, or doctor, too.

It is today that will decide in favor of the permanent adoption of this style for women. But not altogether and completely. I predict—that the mannish suit that is now causing such a storm of comment will be accepted as the expected costume for those occasions in which it is the most comfortable and practical thing to wear, and that women will wear as many frills and luxurious trappings on other occasions as ever. Indeed, that women will welcome the opportunity for variety that these two modes offer. That the chysalis of her mannish suit so practical for her daytime activities, her career and her business, will be shed with a secret chuckle and even a kiss in the cold and unresponsive mirror when evening lights blaze and the light wine corks pop—as ever.

Haven't you several dresses in which you do not feel quite comfortable, now that their plain sleeves make them just a bit out of style—and yet you have, have to get more wear out of them! Well, that's a matter solved for you in the Dah-ray Department of The Washington Post! Because we have made you a leaflet telling you how to make new and very attractive sleeves out of old—and we are just waiting for you to send for it—and to bring all of your dresses up to date with the information in it! Remnants, or hidden parts of the dress itself which you never expected, are part of the secret of making a whole new dress out of an old one via the sleeves! Send us a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and new dresses are yours for the altering (of the sleeves).

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"ARIES."

IF March 30 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7:45 a. m. to 9 a. m., from 2 p. m. to 3:30 p. m. and from 10:30 p. m. to 11:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to 12:15 p. m. and from 5 p. m. to 6 p. m.

If you are looking for news from afar or for word concerning a matter of importance, it is quite likely that you will hear from it on this date. The news should prove to be favorable, though it may not be all that you expect it to be.

The child born on this March 30 will be fortunate all through life in the friends he will make. He will have an optimistic outlook on life and great ambition. He will have many unpleasant tasks to perform before he finally comes out on top. Success will come late in life.

If March 30 is the date of your birth, you are most likely a person of few words and in your quiet way you accomplish a great deal. You are never inactive and regardless of where you happen to find yourself, you always come across something worthwhile to occupy your time. You love orderliness and cleanliness and you look down upon any one who is not your equal in those qualities. You are a person who likes to get off by himself, who gets a great deal of benefit from solitary meditation. You are more at home in the country than in the city and it is in the former that you are your real self. You enjoy strenuous physical activity; long hikes and horseback rides make you quicken to the realities of life. More than likely you do not subscribe to any set religious beliefs, but you are a person who is extremely aware of the existence and close proximity of a supreme Deity.

Born on March 30, you think slowly, but you do not waste your thought on matters of minor importance; you think vitally and with great directness. When it comes to giving another a helping hand, you will always do so if the other shows a willingness and desire to help himself. Your heart goes out to the under-dog and you will give of your strength if it will help him in his weakness. You are kind, thoughtful, unselfish, helpful and friendly. You are a very worth-while friend.

Successful people born on March 30: Joseph Hadley, educator and scholar. Samuel B. Maxcy, soldier and senator. Roswell Smith, publisher. John Fiske, author. Charles Walstein, archeologist. DeWolf Hopper, actor.

Guiding Your Child

By MRS. AGNES LYNE

ENCOURAGING LIES.

MANY worthy and well-meaning parents still act on the assumption that there is nothing wrong about getting a child to do what you want him to by holding out false promises, making false threats and telling him quite bare-faced lies.

"If you eat that candy, you'll get sick and you'll have to go to bed and the doctor will come and give you medicine."

"Come, now, eat your prunes like a good girl. Prunes make your hair curl."

"No, mother can't buy that balloon because she wouldn't have money left to buy you anything to eat, and then you would have to go hungry."

"If you don't stop crying this minute I'll call the policeman and he will pick you right up and lock you in jail."

And with unconscious irony, "You know what happens to people who tell lies! Nobody loves them."

Of course, the child with a longing for candy discovers in the course of experience that often he can eat as much as he likes without getting the least bit ill. The little girl realizes sadly that daily prunes have failed to produce the desired curls.

Though parents, who are thus dishonest, often are most shocked when they discover that their child has learned to lie, it does not occur to them that he has merely set himself to improve upon their example.

BONDS AND MORTGAGES.

President Roosevelt is apparently having a good deal of trouble in formulating a program to aid farmers who are unable to meet the payments on their mortgages. Farm organizations are urging the Government to issue bonds and thus refinance encumbered farms. That would raise the Federal debt considerably higher than it was during the World War. The President is seeking a less costly way of handling the situation.

It has been suggested that the Government guarantee interest payments on bonds to refinance the farm mortgage debt without attempting to guarantee the principal of such bonds. The proposal is confusing. What agency would issue these bonds? It is inconceivable that the Government would create obligations without guaranteeing payment of their face value. If the Government should guarantee to pay the interest on private bonds, there would be a disposition to let the Government do so, and the cost to taxpayers might run to several hundred millions of dollars per year. Under this hodge-podge arrangement taxpayers would doubtless assume all the liability and gain none of the benefits.

In many respects the farm mortgage situation has been exaggerated. Thousands of farmers are overwhelmed by debts in this period of low prices, but millions of farms are entirely free from debt. Only about 40 per cent of the farms are mortgaged. A survey by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics shows that the mortgage debt represents less than half of the value of the mortgaged farms. A large majority of farmers would probably have no trouble in paying their debts if agricultural prices could be lifted to anything like a normal level.

Some mortgages must be scaled down. Adjustments of this kind have taken place in virtually every other field and it is only reasonable that farm debts should undergo the same process. The Government has already extended aid to the farmer in making such adjustments through the revised bankruptcy bill. If further aid along this line is needed, it should be given without delay.

When this adjustment process has been completed, the farmer will need more than anything else an income adequate to meet his obligations. Congress is now wrestling with plans to raise farm prices. Some legislation of this character will certainly be passed. If the measure is effective, it will immediately increase the farmer's ability to pay his adjusted debt installments. The mortgage situation might thus be improved overnight, and a vast bond issue to refinance agriculture might be unnecessary.

Congress may find it advisable to give some temporary aid in the mortgage dilemma and await the results of its general farm relief program. The losses that have been incurred by investors in farm mortgages must not be unloaded upon taxpayers. Caution against hasty action is, therefore, much to be desired. The Government can not experiment in this field without grave risks to the stability of its credit. Hence, Federal refinancing of farm mortgages should be undertaken only as a last resort. How can Congress act intelligently on this grave question until it has had an opportunity to appraise the value of the general farm aid program?

INTERSTATE SECURITIES.

President Roosevelt's proposal to protect investors by regulating the traffic in investment securities in interstate commerce is most timely. Revelations of reckless and dishonest practices during the last two or three years demonstrate the necessity for Federal supervision of interstate commerce in securities. Corporations engaged in this business can not be wholly controlled by the States in which they are incorporated. Their business is interstate.

The Government can exercise regulatory powers only. It will not and can not guarantee the soundness of investment securities. The buyer must use his own judgment. But the Government can penalize fraud, and it can require such truthful and complete description of securities entering into interstate commerce as will enable buyers to exercise intelligent judgment. As President Roosevelt observes, the law can make the seller beware.

The Government regulates agencies of interstate commerce, except power companies delivering power across State lines and sellers of securities. It should regulate both of these. The supervision of interstate commerce in electric power has been too long delayed. It is now necessary, also, to protect the public against frauds in the investment field. Full authority for this supervision is contained in the interstate commerce clause of the Constitution.

THE FEDERAL PAY CUT.

Federal employes have accepted almost without protest the 15 per cent salary reduction ordered by President Roosevelt under the economy act. The reduction is, of course, very distasteful to them. But they realize that the country is faced with an emergency that makes drastic savings imperative. Since the salary cut is only an emergency measure, most Government workers will accept it in the spirit in which it was enacted and decreed.

The economy act sets up a new sliding scale for salaries, using 1928 as the base. The President is required to compute the decline in the cost of living from that year and to reduce salaries by a similar amount, provided that under no circumstances can a reduction of more than 15 per cent be made. In this way the employes are granted a measure of protection, for salaries will rise again with the cost of living. Meanwhile the Government will save about $120,000,000 per year with prices near their present level.

About all that can be said for this method of reducing salaries is that it is less obnoxious than a straight 15 per cent cut. The sliding wage scale may serve a useful purpose in an emergency, but it is not to be regarded as a sound principle of determining Federal salaries. Employes are entitled to know what their salaries will be for a year in advance. A definite and steady income promotes that feeling of security which the whole world is seeking so fervently just now. Fluctuating salaries could lead only to uncertainty and confusion.

Furthermore, it is a mistake to regard the cost of living index as a measure of the individual employe's obligations. Government workers who bought homes in 1929 are still paying for them at the excessive prices of that year. A 15 per cent reduction in salary will be a real hardship to them, in spite of the fact that the cost of living index may show a reduction in rents. It is not practical to shift salary scales up and down in accordance with fluctuating prices, except for an emergency period when the Government is hard pressed for funds.

Apparently 1928 was chosen as a base so as to allow the Government to make a substantial reduction in salaries on the cost of living theory. At that time the cost of living was relatively high. Government salaries had not kept pace with salaries being paid in private industry. Government workers were told at that time that the stability of their salaries offset the high wages then being paid in private enterprise. But that stability has now disappeared.

The cost of living is not a proper basis for determination of wage scales. The tendency of industry to pay its employes on a cost-of-living basis in the decade prior to 1929 led to a dearth of purchasing power. When the efficiency of the individual worker is gaining rapidly, wages ought to keep in line with increased productivity. Otherwise, overproduction or lack of purchasing power is inevitable. It is just as important for the Government to keep salaries abreast of productivity as it is for private industry.

The acquiescence of Government workers in this emergency formula should not be interpreted as the acceptance of a new theory by which their salaries should be governed in the future.

JAPAN'S OPIUM MONOPOLY.

The Japanese project to establish a government opium monopoly in the fictitious state of Manchukuo presents a grave problem of world interest. If the move signalizes a repudiation of the hard-won international treaties controlling traffic in narcotic drugs, Japan again blazes the trail in political and social retrogression. Tens of millions throughout the Orient would suffer. New generations would be shackled with the curse.

The ruthless taking of neighboring territory by military invasion is shocking to world opinion, but an enterprise for the organized promotion of opium smoking in Manchuria, to raise revenues to finance Japanese bond issues, would be equally revolting.

Authoritative reports are to the effect that the Manchurian opium project was formally launched in Tokyo five months ago. As yet no official statement has come from the Japanese government concerning the administrative details of the plan. The studious avoidance of the subject in diplomatic discussions has engendered grave misgivings concerning the ends of Japanese policy.

If the new monopoly is a step consonant with the world drug treaties, to wipe out the opium traffic by effective control, this purpose might well be served by a frank presentation of Japan's plan.

Meanwhile, by proposing to finance Manchukuo with the prospective opium revenues, Japan has established another distressing precedent.

NATIONAL PRESS CLUB.

The silver jubilee of the National Press Club serves to remind the Capital and the Nation again of the vital public service performed by those who make a profession of news gathering.

The function of news under the democratic form of government is vital, and those who so regard it at once honor themselves and serve their countrymen.

The National Press Club is an institution dedicated since its inception to this high service. The congratulations and good wishes of the Nation go out to it on its twenty-fifth anniversary. The occasion could not serve better than to rededicate the entire membership to the high tenets of vigorous and intelligent journalism.

If it is the new theory of Federalism that everybody who has been deflated during the last four years is entitled to 40-year Government bonds covering his losses there's great news coming soon for the producers of malt syrup and five-gallon crocks.

The depression is striking especially hard upon promoters of unsound securities, dishonest bankers, bootleggers, and other "cankers of a calm world and a long peace." Uncle Sam is cleaning up the back yard!

A California court is lending itself to a scheme to try to prove that a man acquitted on a superannuated indictment is therefore innocent of a crime for which he was convicted on a valid indictment.

Welcome to the subdictator club, Gov. Morgenthau!

"CONSERVATOR"

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: President Roosevelt's radio pronunciation of the word "conservator" promises to displace the pronunciation recorded by all but one of the current English dictionaries and by every standard book on pronunciation.

The President placed the accent on the second syllable and sounded the last syllable to rhyme with "for," thus: "Con-ser-vi-tore."

This pronunciation at once gained wide currency. It is now heard ten times oftener than the one preferred by most of the lexicographers. The radiocasters have adopted it, many of the officials of the Treasury Department have taken it up, and now it is almost a hazard to use any other pronunciation if one wishes to be considered correct.

According to Webster's "New International Dictionary," "The New Standard," "The New Century," and "The Oxford English Dictionary," the word is correctly pronounced with the accent on the first syllable, thus: "Con'-ser-vay-ter." It is also so recorded by Mrs. Josephine Turch Baker, in the "Correct Standardized Pronunciation Dictionary;" by Dr. Frank H. Vizetelly, in "A Desk Book of 25,000 Words Frequently Mispronounced," and by Dr. Ralph Palfry Utter, in "Every-day Pronunciation."

But those who believe—and they are a large number—that there is no authority for the Roosevelt pronunciation are mistaken. There is high authority in abundance.

Dr. Daniel Jones, internationally famed professor of phonetics at the University of London and member of the "New Standard Dictionary's Committee on Disputed Pronunciations," in his new "English Pronouncing Dictionary," records the President's pronunciation of "conservator" as the one in general use among educated people. This dictionary is the standard authority on pronunciation at Columbia University, the University of Wisconsin, the University of Washington, the University of Wyoming, and the Leland Powers School.

As a member of the "Standard's" committee on disputed pronunciations, Dr. Jones voted in favor of recording "conser'-vi-tore" as the preferred pronunciation in the New Standard, and other distinguished members of that committee supported his pronunciation.

The pronunciation of this word has gone through changes before. It seems to have been recorded for the first time in 1755, by Dr. Samuel Johnson, in his "Dictionary of the English Language." Dr. Johnson placed the accent on the third syllable—"con-ser-vay'-ter." This pronunciation, with the accent on the third syllable, was recorded also in 1775, by John Ash, in "The New and Complete Dictionary of the English Language," and by Nathan Bailey, in "An Universal Etymological English Dictionary;" in 1777, by William Perry, in "The Royal Standard English Dictionary," and in 1849, by Benjamin H. Smart, in "A New Critical Pronouncing Dictionary."

The "Encyclopedic Dictionary," edited by Robert Hunter in 1879, recorded the correct pronunciation is "kun-ser'-vi-tur," with the accent on the second syllable. Hunter rhymed the first syllable with "fun" and the last syllable with "fur."

Then came the more modern dictionaries, beginning with Webster, who swung the pronunciation to the form now recorded by all except one—"con'-ser-vay-ter."

But the usage of good speakers is more powerful than the influence of book authorities, and President Roosevelt's pronunciation of the word has become thoroughly established almost overnight. It will doubtless override the authorities and become the accepted usage of careful speakers. Incidentally, it has a pleasing sound. At any rate it has come to stay, and the dictionary revisers will have to give it recognition.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

A GARDEN LOVER PAYS A CALL.

When Clarence Kirby comes to town
I drop my work and say: "Sit down.
Take off your coat and hat, and let Us talk of phlox and mignonette
And roses and the countless things
Of beauty which the summer brings."
Though markets fall and prices drop,
The yellow jonquils never stop.
Until the sun grows icy cold
There always will be marigold.

Today he called! All morning long
Upon the street we saw a throng
Of human beings visaged glum
As if the end of life had come,
But Kirby talked of shrubs and trees
And told me of a strange disease
Which is affecting strawberry shoots
And now has spread to peony roots,
And what to do if those of mine
This spring should wither and decline.

Two hours flew by and all the time
We talked of roses bred to climb
And countless blossoms old and new
Which summer-time will bring to view.
We spoke no word of loss or debt
Or heavy tasks o'er which men fret.
And all the time I seemed to see
Vistas of flowering shrubbery
And fruits of field and hill and dale
Which somehow weather every gale.

It seemed as though we'd quit the town
Where frightened men race up and down
To find that calmer, saner mood
Born of garden's solitude,
And this I thought: When we are gone
Roses will still go blossoming on
And other Kirbys now and then
Will call upon their fellowmen
And turn their thoughts in trying hours
To the perpetual joy of flowers.

A Case Report on Compensation in One Wee Little Village

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THIS isn't an argument for or against anything, but merely a statement of facts.

All over America there is acrimonious discussion of the veteran and his pension. With few exceptions, the talkers base their arguments on hearsay evidence. They quote an article printed in some magazine and support it with orphan statistics of unknown parentage. They haven't one iota of first-hand knowledge that could win a hearing in court.

It may be that all of the evidence in the public prints is reliable. I am not qualified to judge, for I haven't examined official records or traveled far and wide to interview veterans.

But I can give a true report of the situation in one small village. It may not be typical. It may be that similar conditions can not be found in any other village or town or city. I don't profess to know. But here is the situation that obtains in this particular huddle of 1,500 people.

There are 75 former doughboys who now draw compensation for their service. Of this number, 55 are farmers—white and colored—10 are merchants or business men in the village, and the others work at the cotton mill. Four or five have tuberculosis or some other disability that makes them unfit to earn a living. The others seem sound.

Last night a young merchant sat on the floor of my sun porch, tinkering with a disabled radio. As he worked he talked of veterans and their compensation.

"Brother Bill," he chuckled, "says there's nothing wrong with him, but he thinks he might as well get his $12 a month if all the others get it."

When the first two or three began to draw compensation, their good fortune became a topic of general conversation in the village. They seemed well and hearty. And when the others began to discover afflictions, there was general agreement that a vet was unfair to himself if he suffered in silence.

As one of them expressed it: "If you make fuss enough, they'll give you $12 a month just to get rid of you."

Here where poverty is chronic and all incomes small, $12 a month will pay the rent or the grocery bill. To the Negro farmer, $18 a month is affluence and independence.

The compensated vets in the village are good fellows and good citizens, and those of us who get no pension begrudge them nothing except their pep and their appetite.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Farm Relief Futility.

Los Angeles Times.

Close examination of all the farm-relief legislative measures proposed in the past and present shows that they have a basic fallacy, in that all tend to keep more persons in the business of agriculture than the business can support. They seek to do what? To increase the income of every farmer by some artificial means, which necessarily means an attempted interference with the law of supply and demand. It is a law which, in the long run and on the average, can not be defeated; it will have its way.

There is only one thing to do with a surplus—any surplus, of anything—short of destroying it, and that is to put a price on it that will move it, get it consumed and out of the market and out of the way of additional production.

Congress Hustles.

Louisville Courier-Journal.

The old saying that nothing succeeds like success was never more clearly demonstrated than in the record of the first three weeks of Franklin Roosevelt's administration. Just as America was becoming convinced that Congress was a paralyzed body, incapable of any action whatever, along came the new deal and ample proof that the Senate and House could act with startling rapidity when stimulated by leadership in the White House. A psychology of action has been developed, and even the Old Guard senators who puff and pant and beg for "more time for consideration" are forced to keep up with the pace.

The Lady Doth Protest Too Much.

Houston Post.

Postmaster General Farley is represented as being favorable to a return to 2-cent letter postage. He may recommend the change shortly.

Mr. Farley, after looking the situation over, has come to the conclusion that the economic law of diminishing return has a very unfortunate application to postal revenues. As a result of increasing the first-class postal rate from 2 to 3 cents the current fiscal year is expected to show a loss of nearly $100,000,000 in receipts, according to Representative Mead, of New York, chairman of the committee on postoffices and post roads.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Average Citizen Struggles With Question of Federal and State Legislative Power to Fix Alcoholic Content of Beer.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: My knowledge of law interpretation is not more than an average citizen may superficially gather by the time he reaches middle life. It seems certain that in a body of politicians of the size of Congress there must be quite a number versed above the average in legal lore and jurisprudence. Accordingly, I can not help wondering whether I am a dumbhead in my belief that the so-called beer bill is only a pettifogging and amazingly presumptuous attempt to circumvent the eighteenth amendment.

The intent of the eighteenth amendment is to prohibit "intoxicating liquors * * * for beverage purposes" in the United States. The amendment also says:

"The Congress and the several States shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation."

This power of enforcement is a high-tension police power, as one might say. It is not exclusive in respect to the Congress, but is shared by the States. In determining whether the Volstead act, as amended by the beer bill, is "appropriate legislation" the Supreme Court is not likely to give it special consideration ordinarily due an enactment of the National Legislature. It can be accorded no higher legal rating than that of any prohibition police regulation of a State. In other words its legislative importance is not quite as great as a few of its sponsors seem to think.

Let us carry to its logical conclusion the contention that the legalizing of beer of a 3.2 per cent alcoholic content by Congress is necessarily constitutional. In that case, every State in the Union could fix its own malt-liquor content of alcohol. Kansas and some other States might let it stand at ½ of 1 per cent. New York could raise it to 4, 5, 6 or 7 per cent, and there would be the possibility of 49 kinds of constitutional beer in the United States, graded alcoholically. Or perhaps strictly construed, the requirement would be for the adoption of only one alcoholic grade of beer by "the Congress and the several States." For the constitution provides that the several States as well as Congress shall have power to enforce the eighteenth amendment "by appropriate legislation."

After all, it is the integrity of a constitutional amendment which must be chiefly considered and I am confident that the prohibitionists are correct when they insist that the decision of the Supreme Court on the constitutionality of the 3.2 per cent beer bill will hinge on whether the beer is intoxicating. If the bill is declared constitutional, I am a dumbhead.

Suggests Reading of Gen. Reilly's Article in The Post on Naval Defense.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: To any patriotic American who thinks it safe to let our Navy decrease in size and up-to-dateness, rather than build it up to treaty strength while there is need for reduction of national expenses, my advice is to read the article by Gen. Henry J. Reilly in The Post of Sunday, March 22, in which is urged the need for a Navy big enough to whip any antagonist fleet before it comes within bombarding distance of our coasts.

Gen. Reilly's summary of how in the past nations have been in a period humiliated and ravaged for lack of sea power is not only very interesting, but suggests a contingency the possibility of which should be given serious consideration by our citizens and Government.

If we had a Navy large enough to be proud of, the war danger would not at present be very great. But as the Navy rapidly sinks from second to third place, not only is our danger in case of war vastly increased but our diplomatic influence in behalf of world peace is much weakened.

Wars like other calamities come when least expected, and pacifists are shamefully perverse when they try to quiet our misgivings with academic faith in the League of Nations, ignoring the lesson that, as Gen. Reilly points out, "The world's peace machinery has not proved a substitute for a fleet strong enough to keep the Japanese invaders from putting foot on the soil of China."

GEORGE P. BATES.

Baseball Fan Concludes Beer Is Intoxicating, Because Clark Griffith Rules It Off the Park.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Call me in contempt of court if you want to, but if the Supreme Court labels the 1933 beer constitutional I will still insist that it is intoxicating. The brewers agree that its content of alcohol is that of pre-Volstead beer, and any one old enough to testify knows that human beings by thousands got woozy on beer in pre-Volstead days.

Without considering what the Anti-saloon League and other organizations have to say about it, why does an experienced business man like Manager Clark Griffith object to its sale at the ball park? He knows a good deal about baseball players and also baseball crowds, as well as the effects of beer on baseball teams and baseball fans. When he says that beer will not be sold in Griffith Stadium as long as he is manager, it means that he considers 3.2 beer intoxicating and knows that, with bottles of beer as well as pop bottles handy, the rabid fans might any day get tipsy and create such a riot as to discourage the attendance of the more orderly cash customers. Even if I had some doubt about it the testimony of the Old Fox would convince me that the beer is intoxicating.

Writes of an Exceptional Swagger Suit, a Distinctive Party Dress and Attractive New Ware for the Kitchen.

When a tailored outfit of Forstman corda, including a tailored suit and topcoat, may be purchased for $29.75 and give its wearer the use of a complete costume in the tailored suit as well as a coat for many dresses in the matching topcoat, few purchases could be more economical. This three-piece swagger suit may be seen in one of the smartest of the small F street shops in beige, gray or oxford blue.

Plaid mousseline de soie, combining fine lines of black, green and orange, and flaring into a delightful evening gown, topped by a black taffeta jacket, costs just $9.95 in another small shop on F street. The simple, full-sleeved, black taffeta jacket that may be worn tied high at the neck, should find versatile use in any woman's wardrobe.

A chintz-patterned porcelain ware, made to have durability as well as distinct charm, captivated the Meanderer in a Seventh street store. The ware, labeled for the kitchen, is attractive enough for table use. A waffle set, consisting of large and small lidded pitchers on a tray in matching pattern, costs just $1. Other pieces at the same price in the same ware include a set of mixing bowls, ice box sets, cannister sets for salt, pepper and spices and a most interesting three-decked tea set, with the compact little sugar and creamer fitting neatly over the teapot, changing quickly into the usual pieces for tea serving. This compact tea set is particularly recommended for use on invalid trays because of its need of only scant space on the tray.

A two-way clock in a small, graceful design is entirely new. The two small faces of the little clock of chromium ware will fit well on a bedside table between twin beds. It sells reasonably in the gift shop of a well known leather shop on F street.

Vases of real Cloissone in various colors and designs which have been expensive in other years, are selling for $1.95 in the gift shop referred to just above.

Stationery of good quality, in boxes of 75 folded sheets and 50 envelopes, of 100 single sheets and 75 envelopes, may be printed with three-line addresses for just 79 cents in a department store on F street at Seventh.

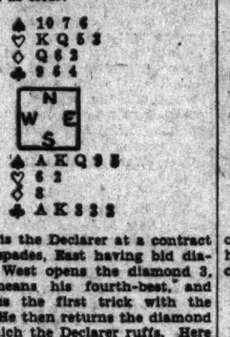
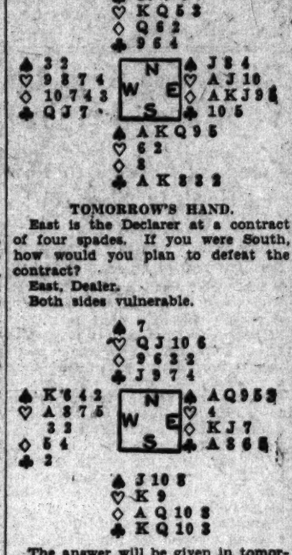
A QUESTION OF PLAY.

A BRIDGE player has not joined the ranks of the experts until he has mastered the important features of play of a hand at a suit—particularly the proper treatment of the trump suit. A most common fault of the beginner is to lead trumps immediately, regardless of the situation, although most people are aware that the lead of the trump suit should be postponed whenever Dummy contains a short suit and also whenever discards must be taken immediately. There is one other rather common situation, which is not quite as clear.



South is the Declarer at a contract of four spades, East having bid diamonds. West opens the diamond 3, which means his fourth-best, and East wins the first trick with the Knave. He then returns the diamond King, which the Declarer ruffs. Here is an important question for South to decide. If the adverse trumps break 3-2, they can be drawn in three rounds, which will leave the Declarer with one trump. He will then be able to establish his clubs—assuming a 3-2 break in his suit also—and he should be able also to make one heart trick. Against this line of play, however, a careful East player will retain the Ace of hearts and a good diamond for his last two cards and will defeat the contract. However, there is a simple method of avoiding this contingency. One round of trumps may be safely taken, but after that the Ace and King and a small club must be laid down immediately. East, on obtaining the lead, will probably force Declarer a second time, and now a heart is led. After East wins with the Ace of hearts, he is helpless. He can not lead diamonds the third time, as this will give Declarer a ruff and a discard, and any other lead he makes will permit Declarer to obtain the lead and draw trumps. This line of play will fail to win only against a 4-1 distribution of either spades or clubs, but against either of these combinations the contract can not be made in any event. The complete hand is as follows:



TOMORROW'S HAND.

East is the Declarer at a contract of four spades. If you were South, how would you plan to defeat the contract?

East, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The answer will be given in tomorrow's article.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

DIRTY AIR AND LIGHTING.

FOR a period of one year J. E. Ives, working with the late Dr. C. Hampson Jones, tried to determine the effect of smoke, dirt and water on light in a large city. They made their observations in Baltimore. One station was located on the top of a police station near the center of the city, where the pollution was at its worst, while the other was in a building in a residential suburb.

A comparison was made between ordinary window illumination in the two places on days when the conditions of cloud were about the same in the two locations. On 193 of the 365 days these conditions were the same and comparisons could be made.

The 193 days were classed as:
54 clear.
49 cloudy.
90 mixed.

In Baltimore, in this year, about 28 per cent of the days were clear as judged from these two points of observation.

Among the conclusions were these:

Smoke caused a large loss of light, in some instances reaching 50 per cent. The average loss for the year was 13.2 per cent for clear days, 15.9 for cloudy days and 14.1 daily for all days.

The factors that entered into the case were haze, due to smoke, and dirt, humidity and velocity and direction of the wind.

The study was similar to one made in New York, and it led to about the same general results. It showed that smoke, dirt and moisture in the air add greatly to the cost of lighting offices, stores, working places and homes.

It was not intended to contribute to our knowledge of the effects of these impurities in fog, cloud formation, hours of sunlight or the quality thereof from the standpoint of health resistance to disease, growth or bodily vigor. It confirms what we know, though we could not prove it, namely, that smoke, dirt and water in the air raises our bills for lighting.

As to some of the other harmful effects of polluted air, there is an abundance of proof. Here are some conclusions for which H. B. Meller, of Mellon Institute, Pittsburgh, is responsible:

"In a certain study in September there was 30 per cent less ultraviolet in the air on the average smoky day, as compared with those classed as nonsmoky. In October there was an average loss of 33 per cent; in November it was 23 per cent; December, 11 per cent; January, 27 per cent; February, 61 per cent."

There were other studies which show the average number of hours of sunlight per day by months and the quality of the light from the health standpoint during each hour.

This information is gathered from different cities in various parts of the country and shows the effect of location, climate, elevation, clouds and fogs, as well as smoke and dirt in the air.

Stuart Gibson, Writer, Dies From Pneumonia

Baltimore, March 29 (A.P.).—Stuart Gibson, a member of the editorial staff of the Sunday Sun, died from pneumonia today after an illness of three days. He was 39 years old.

A New Yorker AT LARGE

By MARK BARRON.

New York, (A.P.).—The success of Fred Astaire's new musical vehicle is due in no small measure to the work the dancer-comedian put in on it and the preparations he made for it.

From the outset Astaire had no delusions as to the obstacles he faced because of the fact that it was his first solo attempt on the stage, he previously having appeared always with his sister, Adele.

And Astair was right, for the absence of Adele was commented on overly much as though, indeed, in his profitable and pleasurable years on the stage, he had been nothing more than an ornament, instead of an excellent dancer in his own right.

No Details Overlooked.

His determination to make good on his own was known to few. But during rehearsals of the show he engaged Adam Carroll, pianist and composer, and continued him on through the Boston engagement and until the New York opening, paying Carroll out of his own pocket.

This he did so that his dance routines would be perfect, carefully worked out, note by note, and step by step. Always a stickler for precision, he became more so, arriving early at the theater before the rest of the company, and working faithfully night and day.

Carroll later remarked that he had never seen a man work so hard, and the remark embraced 15 years in show business, with many stars.

Astaire is modest but determined. Usually he keeps to himself, sets the styles in men's clothes and lets others follow, and has a wardrobe that might even shame the Prince of Wales. He lives alone in a Park avenue apartment, and has a prize valet who is, needless to say, amazingly efficient.

No Joke to Her.

The sequel to a kidding story came to light the other day. Last summer a dramatic editor sailed for Europe, and in a spoofing story his paper printed in a farewell there was an item about the staff contributing to give him a box lunch so that he would have something to eat while abroad.

When his mother visited New York recently she confided she had accepted the item at its face value and become so alarmed that her offspring hadn't enough food that she cabled him $100.

Efforts of the writer of the original story to get a belated 10 per cent commission from the editor were repulsed.

One of the most expensive parking places in town is that maintained by Lee Shubert. It is a private alley which runs from Forty-fourth to Forty-fifth street, just off Broadway. No other car, except his canary colored limousine, is allowed to park in or pass through that alley. However, it is used as a pedestrian thoroughfare by play-goers.

The noisest celebration in New York isn't on July 4. It's on St. Patrick's Day.

Stock Market's Fluctuating Results in Moderate Losses

Light Selling Is Feature as Trading Increases to 624,796 Shares.

New York, March 29 (A.P.).—Stocks bobbed up and down in their current trading range today, closing lower, but above the minimums of a quiet market.

Light selling of old-time favorites that recently have been subject to pressure found buyers reluctant to take stock except at concessions, and a few losses of a point or two resulted. Yesterday's gain was just erased in the averages. Sales totaled 624,796 shares.

American Telephone, Case, Harvester, Allied Chemical, American Can, Santa Fe, American Tobacco, New York Central, Corn Products, Du Pont, Westinghouse and Sears Roebuck were off around 1 to 2 net, while U. S. Steel, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, General Electric, Chesapeake & Ohio, Delaware & Hudson, Baltimore & Ohio, Pennsylvania and Bethlehem lost half a point or so. National Distillers Products rallied a point, leading a rise for alcohol shares. Gold mining issues were dull. Sugars eased somewhat, despite firmness of sugar futures.

President Roosevelt's message on Federal supervision of investments and the accompanying legislation to carry out his proposals gave the financial community plenty of material for study. Although formal comment was withheld during market hours, the steps being taken by the national Government to end abuses were for the most part favorably received. It was pointed out in some quarters that restoration of confidence among investors is not only desirable but necessary if new money is to be forthcoming for financing the eventual recovery from this depression.

Freight traffic statistics, covering last week, seemed to assure a fairly good appreciation over the immediately preceding period. This is normally a time for larger shipments; the peak period of that rise is approaching, though things were put badly awry by the late financial dislocation, so the peak may come later than usual.

Stocks were at their best when wheat was advancing on bullish crop estimates and speculative support, though the top was hardly more than even with Tuesday's closing. As gains slid off, shares also worked into a decline, so the setback seemed to be in sympathy with the course of quotations on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Fluctuations marked trading, and the result was an average loss of 1.1 points. Light selling of favorites indicated buyers were reluctant. Sales volume increased to 624,796 shares.

Bonds.

United States loans held firm, but the general market sank .2 point. German issues staged a slump. The sales turnover declined to $9,765,000.

Curb.

Professional selling lost previous gains. Volume of trading dropped to 100,000 shares. All favorites showed sagging tendencies.

Wheat.

Heavy buying sent wheat prices higher, but the gains were lost in late profit taking. Corn and oats closed up or unchanged. May wheat sold at 53½ to 53⅝ cents.

Cotton.

Prices reacted under a realizing drive, after a sharp rise in early trading. May sold at 6.24. Liverpool reported light Bombay selling taken by trade calling.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Prices of most issues on the stock exchange sagged on profit taking and lack of support in a more quiet session. Argentine rails, however, were a firm exception, gaining 1½ points on prospects of favorable developments in the New York Stock Exchange situation. Oil shares also were supported owing to conference hopes. The market closed dull.

Paris—As a result of better Wall street advices and of the success of the new French loan, prices on the bourse were firmer. The closing was irregular.

Berlin—After a week opening prices on the boerse recovered irregularly and closed fractionally higher.

U. S. BONDS FIRMER IN LOSING MARKETS

German Issues Stage Slump as Turnover Declines to $9,765,000.

New York, March 29 (A.P.).—United States Government securities displayed the only firmness in a generally dull and hesitant bond market today with the trend in most other categories irregularly lower.

Sales totaled $9,765,000, par value, and the average for 60 domestic corporate loans dropped two-tenths of a point.

While the corporate groups mulled about uneasily and the foreign section, led by the Germans, was noticeably heavy, Federal loans pushed quietly forward for gains ranging from 1-32 to 14-32 of a point. Only the Treasury 3⅛s relaxed for a loss of 5-32.

Most German bonds slumped to new lows for the year, depressed largely because of muddled political conditions in the republic and doubts in some quarters as to the continuance of full service on the country's foreign debts. The Reich 5½s lost 3⅜ points, the 7s were off 3 and state, municipal and corporate loans of Germany were down 1 to around 5 points.

Colombian issues lost 2⅜ to 8½ points following reports from Bogota of a moratorium on the country's foreign debt payments. The Argentines, Brazilians and Australians dropped a point or more. French 7½s retrieved an early loss and closed fractionally higher. The Italians were easy.

Despite late moderate rallies, secondary domestic rails and some of the higher grade utilities were unable to retrieve early losses. Bonds of American Telephone, Brooklyn Edison and Detroit Edison sagged fractionally to a point or more. The heavier rails included some liens of Alleghany Corporation, Baltimore & Ohio, Boston & Maine, Central Pacific, Chicago & Northwestern, Rock Island, Erie, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, Nickel Plate and Iron Mountain.

Issues of U. S. Rubber and Kelly Springfield lost 1 to 3 points. Shell Union Pipe Line 5s and United Drug 5s recovered a point each.

TRADE TRENDS.

(Associated Press.)

Cotton yarns—It is reported in the trade that spinners are seeking to bring yarn prices back to a profitable level by raising asking quotations. Some interests insist that yarns are currently selling 2 to 3 cents a yard below cost, plus a fair return on invested capital.

Fertilizer — Unfavorable weather has militated against expanded demand for fertilizer materials, but a fair amount of activity is reported in the South. Current stocks are understood to be small, but early improvement is looked for by dealers.

Flour—Firmness of wheat market has helped the underlying price position in flour although demand continues of small proportions. Prices have been raised 5 to 10 cents a barrel above recent levels.

Steel—Demand for sheets is reported slightly more active, chiefly in connection with some revival in construction operations in agricultural sections. Buying of cast iron pipe also reflects seasonal improvement.

Wool—Prices are somewhat easier in the Boston market reflecting general hesitancy on the part of buyers. Sales are limited to small lots and odds and ends.

Finished Goods Constitute 41.8 Per Cent of All Imports

(Associated Press.)

Finished manufactures were announced yesterday by the Commerce Department to have composed 41.8 per cent of the Nation's total of $99,438,000 of exports during February.

Crude materials were the bulk of imports during the month, totaling 25.2 per cent of the $83,803,000 total.

The analysis of the exports and imports during the month as compared with February, 1932, follows:

| EXPORTS— | 1932 | 1933 |
|---|---|---|
| Crude materials | $52,633,000 | $31,848,000 |
| Crude foodstuffs | 8,494,000 | 3,244,000 |
| Manufactured foodstuffs | 14,264,000 | 9,575,000 |
| Semimanufactures | 18,331,000 | 13,242,000 |
| Finished manufactures | 57,326,000 | 41,528,000 |
| IMPORTS— | | |
| Crude materials | $37,310,000 | $21,129,000 |
| Crude foodstuffs | 22,849,000 | 17,864,000 |
| Manufactured foodstuffs | 14,911,000 | 12,097,000 |
| Semimanufactures | 24,098,000 | 13,606,000 |
| Finished manufactures | 31,810,000 | 19,107,000 |

The month's total of exports, announced previously by the department, was $99,438,000 as compared with $151,048,000 in the same month of 1932, and imports $83,803,000 against $130,978,000.

Preferred Owners To Take Coal Helm

Burns Brothers' Business Will Pass to New Control in April.

New York, March 29 (A.P.).—Control of the $26,000,000 Burns Brothers, coal distributors, will pass to the holders of the 25,800 shares of preferred stock at the annual meeting next month, owing to a default in dividends. Dividend arrears on the preferred amount to 3½ per cent. Under the company's charter the holders of the senior stock are thus permitted to have the sole voting rights.

There are 100,000 shares each outstanding of common class A and common class B stock, which formerly held voting control, although the latter in May, 1931, were placed in a voting trust agreement.

The company had a net loss of $2,949,486 in 1932, following a loss of similar proportions in 1931. The 1932 coal sales volume was $19,186,000 against $31,311,151 in 1931. The company distributes anthracite and bituminous coal and fuel oil in the metropolitan district of New York and in New England.

GOODS MARKET.

New York, March 29 (A.P.).—Unfinished cotton goods were quiet today with prices barely steady. Finished goods of a seasonal character were in moderate call. Rayon goods sold more freely to retailers and some fall business on linings was reported. Burlaps were steady and quiet. Wool goods sold in light volume.

Dividends Kept Up By Allied Chemical

Company Refuses to Bow Head in Slashes With Others.

New York, March 29 (A.P.).—Allied Chemical & Dye Corporation, which has become popularly regarded in Wall street as one of the "mystery" companies, has this week kept itself in that select class of companies which have not bowed their heads to the depression by reducing cash dividends.

Perhaps one reason for the popular conception of Allied as a "mystery" company is its products—a wide assortment of chemicals used in industrial processing, mostly those with which the consumer has little direct contact, important as they are to his everyday life.

Another reason, undoubtedly, is the extreme distaste for publicity of its chairman and president, big, jovial, energetic Orlando Weber. This executive has not been known, in the memory of his associates, to make a public statement or speech. Nevertheless, he is what may be described as an economist-executive. Few, indeed, are the heads of big corporations who can hurl a larger volume of economics and statistics in casual conversation.

CURB'S PRICE RISES TRIMMED IN SELLING

Professional Trading Leads Dealing; Volume Cut to 100,000 Shares.

New York, March 29 A.P.).—The curb market again demonstrated today that a one-day rally puts a severe strain on buying power.

Yesterday's advance was largely canceled because of a trickle of selling into the leaders, but volume was so small as to indicate little beyond professional operations. Transfers totaled 100,00 shares, compared with 110,000 on the previous day.

Under moderate pressure from the start practically all of the trading favorites showed a sagging trend throughout the session. Losses of a point or so were recorded by Electric Bond & Share, American Gas & Electric, Commonwealth Edison, Montgomery-Ward A, and Garlock Packing.

Somewhat larger losses were sustained by Duke Power, Colts Firearms, New England Power preferred and Insurance Co. of North America and New Amsterdam Casualty.

Stocks contributing better action included Axton Fisher, which gained 5 points; Aluminum Co. of America, 2; National Sugar and Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 1.

Omission of the $1.75 quarterly dividend on Utilities Power & Light preferred brought no volume selling into that issue, which receded fractionally on odd-lot trades.

Some of the gold mining shares picked up slightly and oils continued firm on the prospect for some constructive developments from the conservation conference in Washington.

Power Production Higher for Week

Output in Atlantic Coast Field Off 4.3 Per Cent; Loss Smaller.

New York, March 29 (A.P.).—Electric power production in the United States improved last week after a steady decline since early in February.

Edison Electric Institute reported today that output for the week ended March 25 was 1,409,655,000 kilowatt hours against 1,375,207,000 in the previous week. The decline from a year ago was 6.9 per cent as compared with a decrease of 10.6 per cent for the week ended March 18.

Production on the Atlantic Seaboard was off 4.3 per cent from 1932 against a drop of 8.2 per cent in the previous week; New England alone was down 7.6 per cent compared with 9.5; the Central industrial region 10.9 against 14.8; and the Pacific Coast 4.1 against 6.9.

WHEAT LOSES GAINS UNDER PROFIT SALES

Dealers Report Increasing Demand by Millers; Other Grains Up.

Chicago, March 29 (A.P.).—Big buying shot wheat prices strongly upward today, but profit-taking at the last nullified most of the gains.

Reports of dust storms in Kansas and Oklahoma did much to inspire the purchase movement in the wheat pit. Besides, predictions were plentiful that April unofficial crop summaries next week would indicate heavy abandonment of domestic winter wheat acreage.

Wheat closed irregular, ¼ to ⅜ off to ¼ to ⅜ up, compared with yesterday's finish; corn, ¼ to ⅜ advanced; oats, unchanged to a shade higher, and provisions unchanged to 10 cents down.

Houses with Eastern connections were conspicuous as among the most aggressive on the buying side of the wheat market. Advances were in the face of persistent selling which pit observers attributed to Government-sponsored agencies. On the bulge in prices, the market went to the highest point with one exception since last November. Many traders said they looked upon the behavior of wheat values as largely indicative of a crop scare.

Mill Demand Gains.

One of the largest brokerage houses in Chicago issued this statement: "Cash handlers report an insistent milling demand, with all deliverable grades wanted right now at May price in store, which means that holders can exchange their cash wheat for May contracts, thereby saving storage, interest and insurance for over a month and still keep their wheat.

"It is always well to allow for exaggeration in crop damage reports, but those from Kansas sent by agricultural college officials and railroad crop authorities appear thoroughly reliable and are desperately bad. With these two incentives, believe buying of wheat will be sufficient to advance prices in this country, regardless of Europe or South America."

Corn sold above 30 cents for May contracts, a new high since last November. Wheat strength and decided improvement of corn shipping demand here were largely responsible. The oats market sympathized.

Provisions reflected late weakness of hog values.

Wholesale Food Price Index Stands at $1.57

New York, March 29 (A.P.).—The index of wholesale food prices, compiled by Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., stands at $1.57 this week against $1.60 last week. The drop of 1.9 per cent contrasts with a decrease of 10.8 per cent in the corresponding week of 1932.

Grains as a whole were strong, weakness in steers, hogs, butter, coffee and lard pulled the index down.

Standard Oil's Sales Activities Centralized

New York, March 29 (A.P.).—Domestic marketing activities of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey will be coordinated and centralized through a reorganization of personnel announced today. The new plan will become effective April 1.

C. E. Sheffield, vice president of Standard Oil of New Jersey (Delaware), has been appointed manager of retail sales throughout the company's territory.

Gasoline Prices to be Higher

Cleveland, March 29 (A.P.).—An increase of 1 cent a gallon in the prices of gasoline, effective tomorrow, was announced by the Standard Oil Co. of Ohio today. At the same time, the company will inaugurate a policy of allowing a discount of 1 cent a gallon for cash sales.

COTTON PRICES CUT ON REALIZING DRIVE

May Sells at 6.24 With General Market Down 1 to 8 Points.

New York, March 29 (A.P.).—A rather sharp advance from a slight early decline in cotton today, on covering and commission house buying promoted by rallies in wheat and reports of small offerings from the South, was followed by reactions under realising and scattered selling.

May contracts after selling up from 6.26 to 6.44, or 12 points net higher, reacted to 6.24 and closed at that figure, with the general market closing easy at net declines of 1 to 8 points.

The opening was steady, at a decline of 4 to 6 points in response to disappointing Liverpool cables, and reselling by some of yesterday's buyers who may have been influenced by the failure of Tuesday's advance to bring in more overnight buying orders. Houses with Liverpool and Japanese connections had a few selling orders here, but there seemed to be very little selling from the South and the comparatively moderate initial offerings were absorbed by coverings and trade buying.

Prices Steady Later.

Prices steadied later and there was quite a spurt of demand during the middle of the day which appeared to be coming partly from Wall Street and Western sources, with October contracts selling up from 6.61, the low point of the morning, to 6.80. This made net advances of about 11 to 15 points on the general list and of 17 to 19 points from the low levels of the morning, which were evidently sufficient to attract some realizing.

A little more Southern selling also made its appearance, apparently, and the market reacted in the later trading, with October closing at 6.64, or 16 points off from the best of the day. May was relatively easy under liquidation and showed the maximum decline of 8 points at the close, while other months were 1 to 5 points net lower.

Liverpool cables said that light Bombay selling had been taken by the trade in that market and reported a quiet business in spot cotton there with some import buying of medium qualities of American cotton.

Exports today, 20,959, making 6,124,986 so far this season. Port receipts, 13,528. United States port stocks, 4,406,331.

NEW YORK.

SUGAR—Raw was quiet early today and as no sales were reported prices were unchanged at 2.95 for spots. Refiners, as a rule, showed little interest, but holders were firmer probably on account of the steadiness of futures. Aside from a small lot of Puerto Rican, which could probably be had at 2.95, there was nothing firmly offered below 2.98 to 3.00.

Futures were moderately lower at the start under liquidation probably encouraged by the report that any segregation in Cuba would be on a voluntary basis. Later the market steadied on increased covering and renewed speculative buying. May contracts after selling at 2.98 advanced to 1.00, while September sold up from 1.06 to 1.11. At midday prices were 1 to 2 points net higher.

Refined was unchanged at 4.20. There was a fair withdrawal demand but no new business was reported.

COFFEE—Spot quiet; Rio, No. 7, 7¾; Santos, No. 4, 8¾@9. Rio futures closed quiet; sales, 1,000 bags. May, 5.33N; July, 5.17N; September, 5.01N; December, 4.94N. Santos futures steady; sales, 7,000 bags. May, 7.72N; July, 7.42N; September, 7.18N; December, 7.10N; March, 7.02N.

N—Nominal.

PHILADELPHIA.

LIVE POULTRY — Broilers, chickens, fancy, 20@23.

DRESSED POULTRY — Fowls, freshkilled, in boxes, 15@17.

CHEESE—Unchanged.

BUTTER—Top grades, 19½; 92 score, 18¾; 91 score, 18¼; 90 score, 18.

EGGS—Receipts, 1,856; steady and quiet; receipts liberal but buyers cautious. Majority demand for cheap current receipts. Limited offerings of duck eggs brought 24@27. Special peaks nearby white hennery, 16@18. Other prices unchanged.

PROSECUTION ENDS CASE AGAINST BALL

Riggs Bank Official Identifies Checks Cashed by His Brother.

Winding up its eighth day in the trial of E. Wade Ball, former treasurer of Arlington County for alleged failure to turn over county funds totaling $515,959.92, the Commonwealth rested its case yesterday at 3:30 p. m., with the testimony of H. W. Burnside, assistant cashier of the Riggs National Bank.

He identified deposits made by Ball from deposit slips. He also identified a large number of checks, the majority of which were drawn in cash, as being cashed on the indorsement of the defendant's brother, H. C. Ball.

The defense failed to shake the testimony of Robert B. Jordan, State auditor, after a rigid cross-examination conducted by Frank L. Ball, defense counsel.

$20,000 Error Probed.

Referring to the testimony of Jordon on Tuesday that while Ball's books showed collections of State taxes amounting to $53,040.05 a photostat copy of the report filed at Richmond by Ball showed collections of State taxes totaling only $33,040.05, Jordon stated that he considered it a good find as an error. Questioned by Ball that the report was dated January, 1932, Jordon replied that he said as of December, 1931.

Mackey Motions Denied.

Upon the announcement by Collins Denny for the Commonwealth that it rested its case, Crandal Mackey, for the defense, moved that all evidence of the Commonwealth be stricken.

Mackey also renewed his previous motion for a mistrial on the grounds that the jury had read a letter attached to the audit from T. Coleman Andrews, State auditor of public accounts, claimed to be damaging to the defendant.

The motions were denied by the court.

Frank L. Ball, defense counsel, announced that officials of the First National Bank of Alexandria, the Citizens National Bank of Alexandria, Burke & Herberts Bank of Alexandria, Alexandria National Bank, the Potomac Savings Bank of Washington, the Clarendon Trust Co., People's State Bank of Cherrydale, and the Arlington Trust Co. have been summoned to appear in court today with records of either Ball's personal or treasurer's account in their respective banks.

2 Horses Die as Barn In Lewinsville Burns

Fire of unknown origin destroyed the barn of James Magarity at Lewinsville near McLean, Va., yesterday afternoon. Two horses and a calf in the barn were burned to death. Loss was estimated to be about $6,000.

Flames leaping high through the roof of the barn shortly after noon were discovered by members of the family and the Volunteer Fire Department at McLean notified. The blaze, fanned by the high winds, made rescue of the animals impossible. A large quantity of feed and farm implements were also destroyed. Aided by water from a small stream nearby the firemen were able to keep the flames from spreading to nearby farm buildings and the house.

ABOUT THE SHOW SHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

THE presence of George M. Cohan in the Capital in "Pigeons and People," his latest, and, in many respects, his most unusual play, at the National this week, has caused all of his old cronies to go in enthusiastically for an anecdotal field day with him as star.

George M. Cohan.

It is Patterson McNutt, avant courier of Miss Rachel Crothers' comedy, "When Ladies Meet," which follows Mr. Cohan at the National Monday night, and himself a newspaperman-playwright-publicist of parts, who recalls the time when Mr. Cohan had been relentlessly and not too profitably rehearsing the flambuoyant, handsome and impeccable late Robert Hilliard in a play that was due to open almost within a few minutes in Baltimore. After an ardous afternoon, all hands knocked off and Mr. Cohan, tired and intent only on a little creature comfort, sleeked down his hair, leaped through a clean collar and presented himself at the hotel dining room, where he was promptly and efficiently seated and served.

Hardly had his first course arrived when his attention was attracted by a bit of a fanfare and a little dash of pageantry at the entrance to the dining room. There, in utter obsequiousness, the entire staff was doing lip service and genuflections before the dinner-coated, boutonniered and highly simonized person of the immaculate and imposing Mr. Hilliard. The parade to his personally selected table was a solemn and impressive ceremonial.

At this juncture Mr. Cohan, with much difficulty, summoned his waiter and requested that he, in turn, summon the head waiter.

"I trust there is nothing wrong with the service, Mr. Cohan."

"No indeed. Everything's all right and you're fine. I just want to see the head waiter a minute."

Upon the appearance of that pompous functionary, a schooled boniface's solicitude was repeated.

"I trust there is nothing wrong with the service, Mr. Cohan."

"No indeed. Everything's all right and you're fine. Only I just wanted you to know that that swell-looking guy over there works for me!"

Then there is the one about the time Mr. Cohan was violently incensed by a serious breach of deportment on the part of a member of one of the companies he and his then partner, Sam H. Harris, had on Broadway. While his ire was at white heat he gave the offender two weeks' notice, stormed into the Cohan & Harris offices, found Sam Harris and exploded right in his face.

"That blankety-blank, ungrateful so-and-so doesn't deserve any consideration whatever after this. I've told the doorman if he ever comes around here again not to let him in the building, and I've told the elevator boy if he ever gets by the doorman and up this far not to open the door, but to take him right down again and throw him out. And not under any circumstances should we ever hire him again for any of our companies—unless—unless we need him!"

So he got the job back.

Speaking of Miss Crothers' "When Ladies Meet," that, of course, is the comedy in which the principal roles are intrusted to the competent hands of Selena Royle, daughter of the noted playwright and actor, Edwin Milton Royle, author of "The Squaw Man;" Walter Abel, now appearing in a light comedy part, although when last seen here, in O'Neill's "Mourning Becomes Electra," he was a somber figure of tragedy; Herbert Rawlinson, erstwhile local master of ceremonies, and Spring Byington. The play is to be presented as the fifth attraction of the American Theater Society's current season.

One hears that with the operatic singing of Antonio Rossitto, the "Little Caruso," and soprano Elvira Crute as the piece de resistance, and the clever and agile dances of Florence Spencer as the hors d'oeuvre, the Madrillon floor show for the week, with Ted Holt as a singing master of ceremonies, is extremely appealing. It is presented at both the dinner and supper sessions.

How fortunate that word "operatic" happened along to serve as a reminder that Maestro Alfredo Salmaggi, importuned by letter, phone and the spoken word, has acceded to an apparent public preference, if not demand, for his production of "Rigoletto," with Nino Martini and Maria Serrano, at the Belasco on Sunday night, April 23, instead of the night of Easter Sunday, April 17. "Rigoletto," accordingly, has been postponed to the later date.

The incoming screen attractions, with their accompanying stage features, if any, for the week beginning tomorrow, will be as follows: Earle, Joan Blondell and Mary Brian in "Girl Missing," and Morton Downey headlining the vaudeville; Loew's Fox, Lewis S. Stone, Diana Wynyard and Phillips Holmes in "Men Must Fight," and Milton Berle headlining the vaudeville; Rialto, Betty Compson and Russell Hopton in "Destination Unknown;" Palace, Walter Huston, Karen Morley and Franchot Tone in "Gabriel Over the White House;" Columbia, Chester Morris and Genevieve Tobin in "Infernal Machine"; RKO-Keith's, Fay Wray and Robert Armstrong in "King Kong," second week; Metropolitan, Frederic March, Claudette Colbert, Elissa Landi and Charles Laughton in "The Sign of the Cross," the second week at popular prices.

The Vice President and Mrs. Garner, the members of the United States Senate, the President's secretariat and the members of his Cabinet have been invited to attend the premiere of "Gabriel Over the White House," as guests of the management, at the Palace tomorrow evening at 8:30—including, I note from the official list, the "Secretary of Labor and Mrs. Frances Perkins"!

Learn one thing each day!

Alexandria Methodists Arrange Daily Services

The Rev. Ernest W. Aaron, pastor of Alexandria Methodist Episcopal Church South, has announced a two-weeks' evangelistic meeting in that church from April 2 to Easter Sunday. The Rev. R. C. Meeks, pastor of St. John's M. E. Church South, Baltimore, will preach during the first week, beginning Monday at 8 o'clock. On Wednesday night a religious drama, "St. Claudia," will be presented by the Olmstead Players.

The Rev. Mr. Aaron will conduct a class of training for church membership each afternoon at 3:15 for the boys and girls under 15 who are to unite with the church on Easter Sunday.

Mrs. Wilkine Dies in France.

Cannes, France, March 29 (A.P.).—Mrs. William Thomas Wilkine, the former Eliza Beale, of Baltimore, died Monday at her villa here.

MISSING AVIATORS FOUND IN JUNGLES

Food Dropped to Pair Lost in Nicaragua; Rescue Ship Takes Off.

Managua, Nicaragua, March 29 (A.P.).—W. A. Flowers, of Dallas, Tex., and Harry Scott, of New Orleans, who disappeared three days ago while flying from Managua to Puerto Cabazes, were found alive today in the vicinity of the Cacalaya River.

Food was dropped to them from planes which had been searching for them. Then the planes returned to Puerto Cabazes, where Capt. Whitehead took off with a U. S. Army amphibian to pick up the two men. It was expected they would be in Puerto Cabazes before nightfall.

When Scott and Flowers were seen from the air they were canoeing down the river. The searchers said this indicated that they had run into native Indian fishermen some time between Monday and today and they probably were none the worse for their experience except for their possible suffering in battling mosquitoes.

Man Is Fined $1,000 For Obscene Show

Rockville Judge States He Wants to Discourage Such Exhibitions.

Julius Rosenfeld, Washington baker and manager of a local soccer team, was fined $1,000 for operating an obscene show at Kensington, Md., yesterday in Montgomery County Police Court at Rockville, Md. Judge Donald A. DeLashmutt told Rosenfeld he was imposing the maximum fine in order that like exhibitions will be discouraged in the county. Rosenfeld noted an appeal to the Circuit Court.

Edmund "Tubby" Ault, son of a Washington policeman, who acted as ticket taker, was fined $100 and Powell Havener, of Kensington, one of the performers, was fined $150.

Benjamin Livingston, of Baltimore, Md., surrendered to Montgomery County police at Rockville yesterday. He is alleged to have been the manager of the show and to have brought the women who took part in the performance from Baltimore. He was released on $1,500 bond for his appearance in Police Court April 1.

Kentucky Coal Miners Strike When Paid Scrip

Hazard, Ky., March 29 (A.P.).—County Judge J. A. Smith said today he has been informed about 500 employes of the Carrs Fork Coal Co. near here went on a strike yesterday in protest against payment in scrip.

Judge Smith said some of the miners told him the company would pay only in scrip, redeemable in trade at the company's commissary. The company and the miners, he predicted, probably will settle their differences without difficulty.

Baby's Crib Is Shoe Box.

Linton, Ind., March 29 (A.P.).—Linton has a baby which is living in a shoe box. The baby is Dwight Wendell Angleton who was born last Wednesday and has used a shoe box for a crib since birth. The infant weighed 22 ounces when born, but has gained 2 ounces. Milk is given the baby through a glass medicine dropper.

Will of Finlayson It Attacked by Son

Richmond Man Contesting Bequests in Estate of $250,000.

Goldsboro, N. C., March 29 (A.P.).—An action to set aside the will of his father, the late H. L. Finlayson, president of the National Oil Co., was filed here today by H. Lee Finlayson, of Richmond, Va., who contested grants to beneficiaries from the estate valued at approximately $250,000.

The will left to Willfred Barner, of Richmond, Finlayson's stenographer, the income from $100,000 "as long as she remains single" and if she marries, the bequest then would revert to the First Presbyterian Church, of Goldsboro.

The remainder of the estate was divided among relatives and the son claimed in his action, filed in Superior Court, that "the execution of the paper writing was obtained by undue and improper influence, and duress on the part of certain parties named as beneficiaries in the paper writing purporting to be the will."

Senators to Address Persecution Protest

Baltimore, March 29 (A.P.).—Three United States senators will address a mass meeting here Thursday night in protest against alleged persecution of Jews in Germany under the Hitler regime.

The meeting is sponsored by the Baltimore branch of the American Jewish Congress in cooperation with leading Christian ministers and laymen. Speeches are scheduled to be made by Senator William H. King, of Utah, and Senators Millard F. Tydings and Phillips Lee Goldsborough, of Maryland. Mayor Howard W. Jackson will preside.

Pierre Curie Hunts Chemical Illinium

Member of Radio Family Seeks Element Named by Dr. Hopkins.

Paris, March 29 (A.P.).—The search for the chemical element No. 61, missing from the atomic chart, but identified in 1926 and christened illinium by Dr. B. Smith Hopkins, of the University of Illinois, is being pursued by Pierre Curie, grandnephew of Mme. Curie.

He and S. Takvorian, an Armenian student, are examining four tons of rare earth in an effort to isolate the element. They have reported to the Academy of Sciences that they have ascertained the existence of the element but were unable to extract any. They obtained only proof of its radioactivity.

Their experiments consisted of an analysis of a mixture containing elements 60 and 62, in the course of which they got a radio activity ten times greater than either of those.

Jurney Starts Probe Of Crichton Accident

While Mrs. MacPherson Crichton, prominent society matron, spent an "uncomfortable" day in Emergency Hospital yesterday, investigation into an accident which caused her to suffer a fractured left hip at the Capitol Tuesday was started by C. W. Jurney, Senate sergeant at arms.

Mr. Jurney said his informal inquiry would probably show the accident was "unavoidable." James Edward Witt, 12-year-old Senate page, who knocked Mrs. Crichton down as he hurried on an errand from the Senate chamber, denies he was running. Several witnesses have corroborated his statement.

Mrs. Norton Gives Up Post in Veterans' Group

After eight years of service on the World War Veterans Legislation Committee of the House, Representative Mary T. Norton (Democrat), New Jersey, resigned yesterday.

Mrs. Norton said her work as chairman of the House District Committee requires so much of her time that she is unable to give the matters before the other group her full attention. Her resignation was accepted.

EUEL LEE FACING 2 NEW MURDER WRITS

Worcester County Acts as Accused Wins Appeal in Davis Slayings.

Snow Hill, Md., March 29 (A.P.).—The Worcester County grand jury today returned two new indictments charging Euel Lee, Negro, with the death of Mr. and Mrs. Green Davis and their two children.

One indictment charges him with killing Mr. and Mrs. Davis, the other with killing the children, Mary Lee and Elizabeth Gertrude.

Lee now is under sentence of death for the murder of Davis, but an appeal has been taken. In previous indictments, members of the Davis family were not grouped as they are in the present indictments.

Court attaches here today pointed out that the new indictments will enable the case to be returned to Worcester County if the court of appeals grants Lee a new trial.

His attorneys in the previous trials were able to secure a change of venue and his death sentence was pronounced in Towson, Baltimore County. The attorneys said he could not secure a fair trial in Worcester County, where feeling ran high after the murder of the Davis family on October 11, 1931.

Lee was arrested a short time after the bodies, horribly mutilated, were discovered in the Davis farmhouse, near Taylors, Md. When crowds formed around the jail at Snow Hill he was removed to the Baltimore City Jail for safe keeping.

He was tried in Towson on the indictment charging him with murder of Green Davis and was convicted. The Court of Appeals granted a new trial, however, because Negroes had been excluded from the jury panel. He was tried again in Towson and again was convicted. A second appeal has been taken.

20 Mexican Radicals Held in Embassy Raid

Mexico City, March 29 (A.P.).—Twenty alleged Communists have been arrested for an attack on the American Embassy last Friday night in protest against the appointment of Josephus Daniels as Ambassador to this country.

They will be deported to the penal colony on Marias Island.

Cleveland Banker Indicted in Theft

Auditor Also Accused of Share in Embezzling of $19,253.

Cleveland, March 29 (A.P.).—An indictment charging embezzlement was returned by the grand jury today against C. Stirling Smith, president of the Standard Trust Co., which closed 15 months ago. A similar charge was made against D. T. Winslow, auditor of the bank.

Smith and Winslow were jointly accused of embezzling and converting to their own use $19,253 on February 7, 1930. The grand jury's action came after an investigation of the $13,200,000 failure of the Standard Trust in December, 1931.

NATS TOSS AWAY 5-3 GAME TO BIRMINGHAM CLUB

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

JOE KIRKWOOD turned the trick in the North-South open at Pinehurst yesterday by the simple method of laying off the trick shots for which he is famous.

Kirkwood for the past 20 years has been the greatest paradox ever known to sports. Here was a man who could do more tricks with a golf club and ball than an ordinary pro can perform with an Aladdin's lamp in good working order, yet Kirkwood rarely was able to crash the big money circles of professional golf.

pocus on the links is a modest fellow, going through his routine of trick shots with no more flourish than a fellow lifting a safe, but on occasion he has broken down and admitted that were it not for his frequent trick shot exhibitions his game would be as sound and fool-proof as Hagen's, Sarazen's, &c.

Kirkwood's Tricks Amazing.

Those who have seen Kirkwood unveil his repertoire of tricks in exhibitions may be forgiven for their failure to understand why the Australian isn't the greatest golfer ever known to the game.

To watch the Australian perform for the gallery is to marvel. He calls his shots with an accuracy little short of magic. When he announces he'll hook, he hooks. When he says he is going to slice, it's a round-house slice. But his true magic is when he calls for a straight shot. Nine times out of ten his shot splits the middle of the pin. He admits that's his most difficult shot—the straight shot, yet there is not a bend discernible when he attempts it.

On the green he will lay six balls 6 inches apart, the first a foot from the cup, and starting with the last ball, he'll chip, not putt, them into the hole. That's control.

Is Different Player In Competition.

Yet when he gets out on the course in competition, Kirkwood is a competitor, not the exhibitor, and then he displays all the human failings, hooking, slicing and missing the putts that he chips into the holes in his exhibitions. The absolutely straight shot that he plays in exhibitions is too often lacking when it will do him the most good.

Kirkwood's failure to carry his magic from exhibitions into competitions with the same success is probably attributable to the same factors that cause the top-ranking professionals to shy the business of giving elemental instructions in the game.

Pros have always contended that teaching the game seriously handicaps their own play. After a siege of correcting the swings of duffers and witnessing the horrible attempts of their pupils to hit the ball with any degree of form or accuracy, the pro is naturally distracted and when he takes to the links himself is faced with the specter of dubbing the shots he has seen dubbed all morning by his protege.

Trick Shots Useless In Competition.

In competition, Kirkwood realizes that his trick shots have no place—that stable, sound golf is required to win tournaments and experiments with his tricks may be fatal. Thus deprived of his seeming advantages, Kirkwood is not the threat he appears to be.

It is acutely significant when Kirkwood himself says that he credits his victory at Pinehurst to the fact that he has been laynig off his trick-shot exhibitions for the past two months.

Toppino Considers Pro Baseball Berth

South's Sprint Star May Join New Orleans as Outfielder.

New Orleans, March 29 (U.P.).—Emmett Toppino, the South's greatest sprinter, may desert the ranks of amateur sports for the life of a professional baseball player.

Returning from his Eastern and Canadian invasion, in which he scored a victory over Ralph Metcalfe, Toppino donned a baseball uniform and shagged flies in the outfield at Heinemann Park for the New Orleans Pelicans.

"I haven't yet made up my mind to become a professional baseball player," said the speedster, "but I've reached the point where I've got to go to work, since there is no financial remuneration for competing in A. A. U. track meets."

Toppino has had wide experience on New Orleans sandlots and his chances of a berth with the Pelicans if he wants it are regarded as good.

Joe Kirkwood Triumphs at Pinehurst

Trick Shot Star Adds 72 Round to Win North-South Open.

277 Total Sets Mark; Cooper Is Second, Wood, Smith Third.

By EDWIN BRIETZ
(Associated Press Staff Writer).

PINEHURST, N. C., March 29 (A.P.).—Joe Kirkwood, the Australian trick-shot artist, broke an 8-year-old record here this afternoon to win the rich North and South open golf tournament with a 72-hole score of 277.

His par-shattering tour was 4 strokes better than the previous low of 281 compiled in 1923 by Macdonald Smith, the doughty Scotchman, then at the top of his game.

"Lighthorse" Harry Cooper, of Chicago, staged a stirring finish in the last two rounds with subpar heats to finish second with 282, 5 strokes behind the red-hot Kirkwood.

Craig Wood, of Deal, N. J., and Horton Smith, of Oak Park, Ill., tied for third and fourth places with 72-hole totals of 283.

Coasts Home With 72.

Kirkwood fairly burned up the tough championship layout. He shot four rounds of the dizziest sort of golf to cop the North and South, last big meet of the coast-to-coast winter swing. In three of his rounds he was well under par.

Starting off with a sensational 68 to stand third at the end of the first round, he seized the lead in the second with a sizzling 67, kept it in the third with a workmanlike 70 and then coasted home this afternoon with a 72, 1 over par.

The Australian campaigner pocketed $1,200 for the job. Tournament officials pointed out that Kirkwood's showing was all the more remarkable because the course has been speeded up since Smith set his record back in 1925.

Kirkwood at the start of the last round seemed a bit nervous for an old timer and took 40 strokes, 4 over par, to go out, but he tightened up at the turn and began looking for birdies. He started off with 3-3-3 to pick up 3 of the 4 strokes. He got the fourth back with another birdie on the sixteenth, but went 1 over with a 5 on the eighteenth.

Dunlap Shoots Two Rounds of 69.

George T. Dunlap, jr., former Princeton and Walker Cup player, who wound up in sixth place with a score of 287 for amateur honors, turned in two neat rounds of 69 each day.

Cooper's 68 this afternoon gave him undisputed possession of second place and $800 prize money.

Wood split third and fourth money with Horton Smith, back on his smashing game once more after a long slump. Each got $525.

Wood lagged this afternoon with a 73, one of his poorest rounds of the tournament.

Smith, after a shaky start, moved up with a dazzling 67 in the third round, and held on with a 72 this afternoon.

Picard Fifth With 288.

Henry Picard, of Charleston, S. C., finished fifth with 286. Young Dunlap was one lick behind him. Then came Tommy Armour, Chicago, and Tony Manero, Elmsford, N. Y., to tie for sixth and seventh money among the pros with 288.

Johnny Golden, of Noroton, Conn., the defending champion, posted a 289, and Johnny Farrell, Quaker Ridge, N. Y., finished with 290. Bill Mehlhorn, New York, and Denny Shute, Philadelphia, were next with 291.

Tom Creavy, Albany, N. Y., trailed them with 292, and behind him six players were grouped at 293, and a share in thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth moneys. They were Mike Turnesa, Elmsford, N. Y.; Dick Metz, Deal, N. J.; Al Espinosa, Akron, Ohio; Gene Sarazen, New York; Billy Burke, Greenwich, Conn., and Johnny Revolta, Menominee, Mich., flash, and one of the finds of the winter.

Martinsburg Bowler Rolls Record 753 Set

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., March 29.—The world's record mark of 747 for five-game set of wooden duck pins, held by Ray Barnes, crack Baltimore bowler, was bested today when Bernard Kees, a member of the Palace team of this city, spilled 753 pins.

Kees' low mark was 127 and his high one 168. The others were 145, 161 and 152. A "5—7—10" spare, considered a rare achievement, was one of the features of his performance. The local bowler is not unknown in national bowling circles. Two years ago he earned sixth place in the national tournament of the Duck Pin Bowling Congress held at Washington and finished well up among the leaders in a similar tournament at Baltimore.

2,000 Watch Celtics Bow To Colored Champs, 31-30

Smith's Goal Decides Thrilling Battle at Auditorium.

"FATS" JENKINS and his colored champion Renaissance five before 2,000 rabid fans, claimed the world court championship last night when they defeated the original Celtics at the Washington Auditorium in a thrilling, smashing, see-saw battle, 31 to 30. Previously, both teams had beaten each other this season by a single point.

The Renaissance claim to championship honors was backed up by the fact that last night's was their 102d victory in 106 starts. Previous to losing a game last Sunday they had scored 77 wins in a row.

Representative Oscar DePriest, of Illinois, tossed the first ball at center. Bill Yancey scored a half minute later from a whirligig formation and added a count by the foul route. Immediately after Jenkins came up from under the basket for two ringers off the backboard, Saitch following with a difficult shot from sidecourt. The Rens led with 9 points.

Rens Lead, 14-10, At Half.

Huster and Dickey led the Celtic scoring, both looping ringers from midcourt for the only field goals of the half. "Dutch" Dehnert and Huster added two points each, and the elusive Davy Banks and Hickey one each from foul shots. The half ended 14-10, with the Rens in front.

The second half was hot. "Tarzan" Cooper and Lapchick came into the fray. Huster scored from side court, but Jenkins would not be outdone and counted twice in rapid succession, once from the deep south, and then with a tantalizing looper, the Rens having a 11-point lead with 8 minutes to go.

The Celtics rallied. Huster, from behind midcourt, tossed one and then another counter, and after Hickey had scored when Saitch fouled him, Huster scored again, with the longest shot of the game, to bring the crowd to its feet.

Herlihy Ties Count At 29-All.

After Saitch had tossed a beauty from the center ring, Lapchick and Huster each scored a point to bring the count to 29-23. Hickey tossed a deft basket from a pick-off and added 2 points on foul tosses. Then Herlihy awoke and scored his only basket to tie the count at 29-all.

When Barry was hurt in the melee under the Celtics' basket, "Dutch" Dehnert tossed one foul shot in two attempts for him, and the green and white Celtics were in the lead, 30-29. The bedlam which followed produced a passing game by the Rens such as has probably never been witnessed here. Every trick in passing, batting and shooting was attempted with the speed for which the Rens are famous, until finally Smith leaped high in the air and tossed in the final counter.

In the preliminary, the District Cleaners defeated the "Y" Arrows, 41-26.

U. S. Title Tank Meet Starts in N. Y. Today

New York, March 29 (A.P.).—The annual national swimming championships, a three-day aquatic carnival bringing together the finest of the Nation's mermen, opens tomorrow afternoon in the big pool of the New York Athletic Club.

Every national collegiate champion crowned last week at New Haven, as well as club and college stars from every section of the country, have entered the competition that calls for preliminary heats three afternoons and finals each night.

The three Spence brothers, Walter, Leonard and Wallace, all competing for the New York A. C., are making a family bid for honors that finds each a favorite in his specialty.

Peck Brands 1933 Team His Best

Club's Fancy Hitting and Good Pitching Buoy Hopes.

Boss, Knickerbocker Battle Regulars for Infield Posts.

NEW ORLEANS, March 29 (A.P.).—With an infield on its toes from competition and a strong-armed array of pitchers, Manager Roger Peckinpaugh expects to lead his Cleveland Indians this year to a higher spot up the American League pennant flagpole.

How far up he would not venture a guess, but he believes it will be higher than last year's fourth place. Peckinpaugh regards his present team as the best he ever has managed and it would not surprise him to see the Indians hit a winning streak at the start of the season.

He is staking high hopes on his pitching staff and the hitting power of his men. The Indians have done some fancy hitting in practice and in preseason games and pitching and hitting is about all that is needed to win ball games.

Five Starting Boxmen Formidable.

The five starting pitchers, Brown, Ferrell, Harder, Hildebrand and Hudlin, all right-handers, promise to give the batters plenty of trouble. They will be supported by Bean, Connall, Perrin, Twogood and Winegarner. The Iowan, Twogood, brought up from the Toledo farm, and Perrin are the only southpaws. Twogood has developed well in camp and he will have a chance to prove his mettle in big league ball.

But the pitchers' mound is a rosebud society compared to the infield. It is hardly safe for life and limb to get in that circuit because of the battles between players over jobs. Just mention the name of Harley Boss to Eddie Morgan and that of Bill Knickerbocker to John Burnett and they look as if they would like to knock the stuffings out of you.

These new ones, Boss and Knickerbocker, have been burning the wind at first base and shortstop and, although the regulars will no doubt open the season at their old stands, that is not saying they will hang on to them all the way through.

Kamm and Cissell Hold Tight Grips.

William Kamm has a good grip on the third sack, but he doesn't like this man Odel being so close to him. The only one in the infield who is sitting back grinning is William Cissell, who has a one-man monopoly on second base.

Back in the outfield harmony reigns, as Averill, Porter and Vosmik have their jobs in the bag. But a shindig might be kicked up out there if the Indian scouts bring in the fast stepping, hard hitting utility outfielder they are looking for.

The catchers' box also is a quiet spot as Roy Spencer, traded from Washington, has earned first catcher and Clemm Myatt is satisfied as second man. Frank Pytlak is there to fill any gaps.

So the Indians' situation is fine for the manager, but tough on the players. Some of the players are not sleeping any too well, but Peckinpaugh is snoring contentedly.

"It's not bad when you have a good man, with another good man sitting on the bench just waiting for him to bobble, eh?" asks Peck, with a grin.

Cavalier Tourney Pros' Last Chance

Virginia Beach, Va., March 29 (A.P.).—The 72-hole Cavalier open that will begin here Saturday and finish Sunday could be called the "last chance" tournament.

The Cavalier event, an added attraction this year to the winter golf wars and which is expected to become an annual fixture, carries a prize pot of $1,500. And it is the last money tournament of the season.

CUYLER'S LEG BROKEN IN GAME

Cub Flyhawk Is Hurt Sliding, May Be Out for 10 Weeks.

LOS ANGELES, March 29 (A.P.).—Chicago's chances of retaining the National League pennant received a severe blow when Hazen (Kiki) Cuyler, one of the finest outfielders in the senior circuit, suffered a fracture of his right leg while attempting to steal second base in an exhibition game with Hollywood.

The accident happened in the fourth inning of the contest, which the Cubs won, 10 to 8. Kiki hesitated a moment as he approached the bag and then decided to hit the dirt. He was half a step too late in his decision, and his foot caught in the bag, giving his leg a sharp twist. He was carried from the field.

Smaller Leg Bone Is Fractured.

Examination at the Cedars of Lebanon Hospital showed what doctors terms a "conninuted fracture of the lower end of the fibula," the smaller bone of the leg. They said a section of the bone 3 inches in length had been severed from the main bone.

Charles Grimm, manager of the Cubs, said Cuyler would be out at least 8 or 10 weeks, depending on how the bone knits. It was considered probable, however, that the injury would handicap Kiki in his fielding and base running, perhaps through the entire season.

Grimm was not prepared to say, either, just who would take over the center field post, but Frank Demaree, obtained from Sacramento, of the Pacific Coast League, was considered to be the logical choice.

Cubs May Recall Stainback.

There also was the possibility that Chicago might call in George (Tuck) Stainback, young Los Angeles outfielder, who was purchased several months ago at a price variously quoted at from $50,000 to $75,000, for 1934 delivery.

Cuyler went to the Cubs from Pittsburgh, where differences with Donie Bush, at that time manager of the Pirates, led to his being kept on the bench most of one season. He became a regular with the Cubs, and hit .291 last season and fielded .968, although a broken bone in his right foot kept him out of the line-up until July.

Pillow Fight Fades As Caliente Threat

Agua Caliente, Mexico, March 29 (A.P.).—Pillow Fight, the New Zealand invader, became a very doubtful starter in the $25,000 Agua Caliente Handicap next Sunday after he finished fifth today in a preparatory race at 1 1-16 miles.

Lovers All, the California-bred 3-year-old filly, which defeated Pillow Fight last Sunday, repeated her performance today and thus became a factor in the big race. The time was 1:44 4-5.

SCHMELING TOUR DELAYED.

New York, March 29 (U.P.).—Max Schmeling's exhibition boxing tour, which was scheduled to start at Pittsburgh April 11, will be postponed for a week because business affairs in Germany have delayed Schmeling's sailing for America, the former champion's manager, Joe Jacobs, announced tonight. Max was slated to sail Friday, but he will board the liner Bremen on April 8.

BERGER STAR IN TRIBE'S VICTORY

D. C. Boy Hits Homer and Wins Game in 9th With Single.

NEW ORLEANS, March 29 (A.P.).—"Boze" Berger, Rookie Indian infielder, who was a star at the University of Maryland, connected for a home run in the sixth inning and came back in the ninth for a single which drove in the winning run today, as Cleveland defeated the New Orleans Pelicans, 5 to 4.

Oral Hildebrand blanked the Pelicans during the first six innings, allowing four hits and striking out three.

Tigers Beat Giants for Seventh Straight.

Houston, Tex., March 29 (A.P.).—Art Herring, Texas League recruit, and the veteran George Uhle kept the New York Giants' ten hits well scattered today, to give the Detroit Tigers their seventh consecutive victory in exhibition games, and their second successive triumph over the National League Club. The score was 7 to 4.

The Tigers got to Hal Schumacher for all of their runs and eleven of their twelve hits in the seven innings he worked on the mound. He also gave six bases on balls. Stone connected with a home run for the Tigers in the second and Vergez hit for a circuit in the sixth for the Giants.

Yanks Rally to Beat House of David.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 29 (A.P.).—Prior to breaking camp here the New York Yankees today came from behind in the eighth inning to defeat the House of David in their annual game, 5 to 3.

The House of David led, 3 to 2, going into the eighth inning when Mike Janesko developed an attack of wildness. He forced two runs over the plate, one with a hit batsman, and Glenn's long fly scored another. Russell Van Atta, rookie hurler, went the route for the Yanks.

Test of Arm By Thomas Pleasing

Allows Only 4 Hits in 4 Innings, But Mates Err in Field.

Wild Throws by Russell and Bolton Aid Barons.

By BOB CONSIDINE
(Post Staff Correspondent).

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Mar. 29.—The Nats played ball today as if they were trying to rent the nickname of "The Daffiness Boys" recently given up by the Brooklyns. They drop-kicked the ball game away after Alphonse Thomas Thomas, jr., had sent a ray of sunshine through the management by a splendid five-inning performance in the box.

Four errors, a couple of wild pitches, an overthrow or so and several incidents which — had there been an ivory collector in the exclusive crowd of 170 who witnessed the game—would have cost the heads of some of the more familiar Nats, all combined to make a chop suey shambles out of what started to be an orderly enough ball game. And the Birmingham Barons stood patiently by and were given the verdict, 5 to 3.

Thomas' Operation Was a Success.

About the only thing worth discussing among you gents was the performance of Al Thomas, bending his first official curves since way last September. Let it suffice to say that all the dough the club spent on having his arm opened, scraped and zippered up again last winter seems to have been a fine investment. Using the same old staccato motion, Tommy breezed the ball by in old-time form for the first three innings he worked. He faced only nine batters in those three stanzas.

The game began to disintegrate under Tommy's feet in the fourth when, after walking Bancroft, the Barons' lead-off man, he sorrowfully watched Joe Cronin boot Kane's roller that should have been turned into a double play, and still more morosely watched Cliff Bolton let one of his fast ones slip through his hands and go back to the back stop, permitting Bancroft to score. The Barons scored their second run off Tommy a moment later, when Prerost's innocent looking roller took an Earl McNeeley bounce over Bluege's head, scoring Kane. Tommy finally retired the side by forcing Abernathy and Whitehouse to pop.

He allowed four hits in the four innings he worked. He's more than satisfied that he'll be O. K. for 1933.

FLYAT, CHOICE, EASILY WINS TROPICAL PARK FEATURE RACE

Milan Racer 7-Length Victor

Dodiodo Second and Rowdy Boy Third to Cross Wire.

Bubbling Ways Destroyed After Hurt in First Race.

TROPICAL PARK, March 29 (A.P.).—Flyat, 3-year-old son of the Derby winner, Flying Ebony, added another triumph to the list of J. C. Milan when he captured the Daily News Purse for his second score in a row here today. Flyat was the third favorite to win in the first four events, paying $4.30, and he won by seven lengths without being extended. Dodiodo lasted to save the place by a head from Rowdy Boy. The time for the 1 mile was 1:38 4-5.

Jockey George Riley was content to let the speedy sprinter Chief Almgren show the way for about 5 furlongs, then sent the favorite into a good lead to win as he pleased. Dodiodo raced well up all the way, but was being hard pressed at the end to keep Rowdy Boy at bay. The latter was shuffled back after the break and received a good pummeling of the whip before his journey was completed.

Poor Start Mars First Race.

The first race was marred by a poor start, and, although Uppercut, the favorite, and Noah's Pride were two of the victims, they were good enough to finish one-two, as named, a length separating the pair on the wire. Mynah, very much neglected in the wagering, away well at the start, lasted to save the show. Polyfon, after leaving slowly, would have been third in another few strides. Uppercut worked his way gradually and caught Mynah halfway through the stretch to return $4.50 for $2.

In a roughly run race Even Play swept home a winner over ten other juveniles in the second, to give favorite players two successes in a row. The son of Chance Play beat Altena by a length and a half, while the latter was a half length before Wise Mollie. Even Play jumped into early command and gradually drew clear, but was ridden out to beat Altena. The latter appeared responsible for some crowding in which Bubbling Ways and Ragtown Belle were the chief victims. The former was cut down during the race. Even Play paid $4.50 for $2.

Bubbling Ways Later Destroyed.

Bubbling Ways had to be destroyed after it was found he had both tendons cut.

Bran Muffin had the foot of the field in the third contest, and showed her heels to the field of nonwinners, which clashed over the 6-furlongs distance. Paying $20.80, the Black Servant miss won by two lengths. Mrs. Let beat Gracias by a half length for the place. Polisher, heavily played, never could get up. The winner shot to the front and was snugly ridden to the stretch, but Georgie Rose rode the filly out through the closing stages.

Morden, possessed of some of the well-known Morvich speed, ran a game race to win the fifth event at 5½ furlongs by a half length from Judge Primrose. O'Riley was a good third. Morden, a 10-to-1 shot, first disposed of Golden Effort and then stuck tenaciously to her task to stand off Judge Primrose in the final strides. O'Riley took the overland route and closed well to miss the place position by a length.

Modern Times Cops Sixth.

Modern Times won the 1-mile event, sixth on the card, by a length, at odds of $13.70 for $2. Meridian Queen beat the long shot, Dunrock, by a neck for the place. Meridian Queen raced Energetic Boy into the ground, but was not equal to staving off the closing rush of Modern Times, which won going away. Dunrock closed a big gap to beat Pennate out of the show award.

Brass Monkey equaled the track record of 2:03 for about a mile and a quarter in winning the last race by a half length. Live One was second, a length and a half before Twisted Threads. The winner paid $5.60.

MOUNT RAINIER TO MEET.

Mount Rainier's unlimited baseball team will hold a meeting tonight at 3007 Eastern avenue, Mount Rainier, Md., at 8 o'clock.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: TROPICAL PARK, MARCH 29.

It must be the Florida air, but it's a fact that this section produces one outstanding apprentice rider each season. Last year he was Mills. Now he is Westrope. Mills is in the money and doesn't ride with the abandon that made him famous last winter, except of course in the big stakes. Westrope has all the dash and fire of the boy who wants to make good. He takes a whole lot of chances now that he will shy from later on after he gets his signature on a fat contract. I understand that he will be seen in Maryland next month. Two winners yesterday for Bennings. BILL.

FIRST RACE — CLAREMONT is asked to shoulder 116 pounds in this sprint, but I believe it can be done and still show enough speed to take care of these. CLAREMONT was unlucky last out and was disqualified. LIQUER is dangerous in a field of this kind. KAI-FINN has plenty of speed, but will not be any too strong in the saddle.

SECOND RACE—It has been a long time since SPOT POT showed anything to get excited about, but I'm tabbing along tomorrow. This is the caliber of opposition SPOT POT defeated as a 2-year-old and I have reason to believe this on will be out there for a purpose. CHARLIE CHAN and SCREEN IDOL for the rest.

THIRD RACE—BOSTON WATERS carries top weight here, but seems capable of the assignment. This one has good form and is worth an across-the-board play. TOYTOWN and SWEEPERMAN appear to have an edge on the others.

FOURTH RACE—BEAU JOLIE has a certain amount of class that Coucci is likely to bring to the surface tomorrow. Works well and goes good at the distance. BANDERLOG'S last was impressive and the Whitney plater should slip home ahead of NOELWOOD.

FIFTH RACE—DARKLING has been knocking at the door and seems most likely of this group to leave the maiden ranks. TINY WRACK showed improvement to take the place the other day, but carries a load. TEMPLE DANCER gets in with a feather and may figure higher.

SIXTH RACE—LUCKY CARTER will have to break from the outside and may be shuffled back when they reach the first turn, but he looks the part of a dependable bet despite that fact. GABBO has a good chance to take the place from MUDRAKER.

SEVENTH RACE—OATEN may have here the spot they have been waiting for. Seems ideally placed. DONIE and EVELYN F. for the other money awards.

C. U. Defeats Maryland In Impromptu Grid Game

Jankowski, Augusterfer Show Midseason Form in Practice as Cards Score Four Touchdowns to None for Old Liners.

DUTCH BERGMAN'S Catholic University Football Team again showed marked superiority in an impromptu contest with the University of Maryland at College Park yesterday. While no official score was kept, the Cardinals put four touchdowns across, while the Terps were held scoreless.

Jankowski and Augusterfer, of the Cardinals, showed midseason form in the contest, racing off for gains of 12 to 15 yards consistantly. A powerful line was also displayed, centered around the performance of Bob White at center and Fleming at end. This line tore wide holes in the Terp forward wall on offence, while on defense they broke through to stop the Old Liners plays before they got under way.

Maryland's team, however, consisted mostly of last year's frosh array, with only two of their last season varsity participating. Some of these players showed a lot of promise, especially Stalfort and Ennis at end and Huff at tackle. Considering how the lack of good smashing ends was the cause of many a defeat last season, these boys may develop into something of a godsend for the Terps.

However, with the schedule in line for the Terps next year including teams such as Tulane and Florida, it will take all of Curley Byrd's magic if he wishes to remain on the right side of the ledger.

Manor's Golfwomen Open Season April 15

Activities for women golfers at the Manor Golf Club will begin on April 15, it was decided yesterday at a meeting of the committee, of which Mrs. L. G. Pray is chairman.

The ringer tournament will commence on that date and will run through the fall of the year. A tournament will be conducted every Thursday, it was also decided.

A committee was appointed to aid in the promotion of weekly events. It is composed of Mrs. B. C. Hartig, Mrs. A. M. Beck, Mrs. H. C. Hird and Mrs. Harold Ness. Mrs. Pray was named captain of the first team and Mrs. Beck captain of the second team.

Mrs. Pearl McPherson has been appointed reporter for the Manor women's golf committee.

N. C. State Nine Wins From Generals, 11-1

Special to The Washington Post.

Raleigh, N. C., March 29.—Washington and Lee Generals concluded their three-game North Carolina swing today when they were handed their third setback, this time by North Carolina State here by an 11-to-1 tally.

Three Tech hurlers limited the Generals to four hits, and in the meantime the locals made the most of opportunities in five scoring innings. The run making was climaxed by a five-run splurge in the seventh and a three-run salvo in the eighth. A homer, two doubles and a pair of singles produced the dynamite in the big inning.

Mack Views Joe Judge As Star

Will Be a Sensation in National League, Says A's Pilot.

FORT MEYERS, Fla., March 29 (U.P.).—Joe Judge, who, despite the record books, is at least 40, will be a sensation holding down the Brooklyn Dodgers' first base this season, according to that well-known authority, Connie Mack, of the Athletics, dean of baseball managers.

Before the Athletics' game with the Dodgers, Connie Mack chatted with newspapermen and some one asked his opinion of Judge.

"One of the smartest first basemen the American League ever saw," the white-haired manager replied. "I'm sure Joe will be a sensation with Brooklyn this summer. Few National League fans know how good a ball player Judge really is."

This was a good pretty good send-off for a chap who had been campaigning for about 17 seasons with Washington, and who was allowed an outright release by wily Clark Griffith so that he could transfer to Brooklyn in January. So another writer asked Connie why he regarded Judge through such rose-colored glasses.

"Joe's the sort of player who hits .300 or close to it year after year without getting a reputation as a great hitter," Connie explained. "You've got to go through his record of runs batted in to get a true appreciation of his value to a club. You'll find he annually drives home more than players who hit 20 or 30 points higher than he.

"Judge is particularly valuable in batting in the runs that hurt— the runs that change the tide of battle and swing a ball game for his club. The Athletics have had more trouble with Judge at Washington than with anybody else on the club."

Manager Max Carey of the Dodgers has virtually decided to use Judge on the first sack until June, at least. Del Bissonette, the regular first baseman injured his leg in training last season, was out of the game for the year, and still is an uncertain factor.

Carolina Trackmen Drill for Navy April 15

Chapel Hill, N. C., March 29.—Doubling efforts this week, the Carolina track team is already looking beyond its opening informal practice meet with Georgetown to its first regular meet at Navy on April 15.

The Navy Log is predicting that the Middies will turn in an undefeated season, and, from last year's meet, Tarheels know what kind of competition to expect.

In addition to a strong and well-balanced team, Navy will also offer two of the brightest individual track stars in the country. Ward Hardman was the only man in the country last year to make the national collegiate honor roll in three events, which he did with the sizzling times of 1:55:8, 4:16:4 and 9:28:8 for the half, mile and 2-mile, respectively.

John Waybright is a sprinter of almost equal renown. He ran the 100 in 9.6 seconds in the Carolina meet last year, did the 220 in close to 21 seconds, and his time of 21.3 seconds gave him second place on the national honor roll for the 200-meter run.

The Tarheels nosed out the Middies, 65 to 61, last year. Their only other loss was to Ohio State, and the 63 1-3 to 62 2-3 margin of that meet was even closer. Navy is out for revenge this year, and the Tarheels know they will have to better all past performances to hope to win.

Traynor's Homer Helps Pirates Win.

Santa Barbara, Calif., March 29 (A.P.).—Registering 3 runs in the first inning, with the aid of Pie Traynor's homer, Pittsburgh's barnstorming Pirates staged a comeback today, defeating Seattle 6 to 3.

The veteran Remy Kremer pitched effective ball, holding the Pacific Coast leaguers scoreless for the four innings he worked.

Triples by Lindstrom and Piet were big factors in the Pirates' scoring activities.

"Ivory" Costing $300,000 Of Little Value to Yanks

Hoag, Crossetti and Lary, Costing $75,000 Each, and MacFayden, $50,000 Purchase, Are Disappointments to Champs.

NEW YORK, March 29 (U.P.).—Any one who thinks buying baseball "ivory" isn't just as much a gamble as emptying baby's bank to purchase cactus lands near oil fields should consider the case of the New York Yankees who had about $300,000 worth of unsatisfactory young players on their hands this season.

The failure of Outfielder Myril Hoag, Infielders Frankie Crossetti and Lyn Lary and Pitcher Danny MacFayden cost the Yanks a lot of money. Hoag, Crossetti and Lary were three $75,000 beauties and three of the most publicized young men in baseball history. Bespectacled MacFayden was obtained from the Boston Red Sox for about $50,000.

Hoag Already Sent To Newark.

Manager Joe McCarthy already has shipped Hoag to Newark, along with Marvin Duke, left-handed pitcher and former Georgia Tech star, whom the Yanks purchased last season from Erie, of the Central League, for a sizable sum.

Crossetti, who was widely acclaimed last season when he came in from the Pacific Coast, probably will be shifted over to Newark before the championship season opens. He was brought in to replace ancient Joey Sewell at third base, but Mr. Sewell, of the photographic eye, replaced young Crossetti.

However, Crossetti managed to grab off the shortstop post, sending Lyn Lary to the bench. Crossetti played in the world series. However, Marse McCarthy was never satisfied with Crossetti's work in the short field. Now, Bill Werber, who barely held on with Buffalo last season, has blossomed over night into the Yankees' best shortstop prospect. He threatens to send Lary to the bench as utility infielder, and Crossetti back to the minors.

MacFayden Failure So Far.

Pitcher MacFayden, who joined the Yanks in midseason last year, was expected to perform wonders with a winning team behind him, but failed dismally. He won 9 and lost 15 games. Moreover, he hasn't shown much improvement during the training season, and such rookies as Charley Devens, Don Brennan and Russ Van Atta are performing brilliantly. This probably will cause McCarthy to dispose of MacFayden.

In addition, Walter Brown, the huge right-hander who did so well at the close of last season and who was believed virtually certain of a starting post this year, may be released to Newark because of a bad arm.

Miller Five Upset In Southeast Play

Friendships Surprise by Winning, 33-26; Naval Reserves Score.

In the outstanding upset of the Southeast Community Center tournament, the Friendship House Five last night eliminated Miller Furniture Co., 33 to 26.

In the other game played Naval Reserves took the measure of the Marines, 52 to 24, eliminating the latter from further competition. Waverly Wheeler and Knocky Thomas again were instrumental in putting the Reserves on top of the heap, as they are the only team in the tournament that has not lost a game.

The Millers were leading at the end of the half in their game, 14 to 9, but Dean and Edelen, of Eastern High, and a boy named Morgul, started off in the last half and soon tied the score and in the last few minutes ran up a lead that could not be overcome by the Millers.

Tonight's games will see Friendship tackle Naval Reserves at 8:15, and Miller Furniture Co. the Mercurys at 9:15.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

DOUBTLESS George Siemonn, conductor of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, and Frederic R. Huber, musical director, of Baltimore, have heard from the country by this time that the first national broadcast of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, composed of 85 musicians, was a huge success. No more enjoyable radio symphony concert has been heard this season, and it proved that Baltimore, musically, is still doing business at the old stand.

The Baltimore Symphony Orchestra is a municipal undertaking, said to be the only one under such sponsorship in the United States. It is a part of the municipal department of music, created eighteen years ago at the suggestion of Mr. Huber. He was placed at the head of the department then and he is there still. Administrations have come and gone, but that is one thing politics has not been allowed to interfere with in Baltimore.

The department even survived the drastic economy cuts made necessary by the depression.

"Municipal music in Baltimore has long since passed the stage of novelty or musical luxury," Mayor Jackson of Baltimore told the radio audience. "To have abolished it would have been like abolishing the public library."

---

MR. HUBER, in addition to his public service for the City of Baltimore, has found time to develop Station WBAL into one of the finest radio stations in the country. WBAL has an exceptionally high musical standard and, with a broadcasting power of 10,000 watts, is regularly heard throughout the entire eastern portion of the United States.

Mr. Siemonn, whose symphony orchestra reflects such credit on Baltimore, is the husband of Mabel Garrison, noted singer and formerly of the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Chambers of Commerce are constantly thinking up schemes to favorably advertise their cities, but if any better advertisement for a city could be devised than a fine municipal symphony orchestra, such as Baltimore possesses, it would be interesting to know what it could be.

Peggy Wood and George Metaxa, who played the leads in the London production of Noel Coward's "Bitter Sweet," will present a scene from that musical show as a feature of the variety program over WRC at 8 p. m.

Queenie Smith, musical comedy star, whose scheduled appearance on the Fleischmann Hour last week was postponed; Olsen and Johnson, "nut" comedians, and Lee Sims and Ilomay Bailey, whose piano and song programs have been heard many times over the networks, also will be included in the list of guest artists who will assist Rudy Vallee.

THE work of Harris Hull on "The Postilion," nightly WMAL news broadcast from The Washington Post, has been favorably commented on by several listeners recently. Unquestionably young Mr. Hull is doing a good job and making many friends.

A member of the editorial staff, Hull has an excellent idea of news values. His manner of speaking, which is rapid but not fast enough to tax the listener, adds to the attractiveness of the broadcasts. One of the most recent to enter the field of news commentators, Harris Hull shows considerable promise.

Josephus Daniels, new United States Ambassador to Mexico, and Fernando Gonzalez Roa, who only recently became Mexican Ambassador to Washington, will speak over WMAL at 1:30 p. m. today.

The addresses will be delivered at a Pan-American Society luncheon at the Bankers Club in New York City in honor of the two ambassadors. John L. Merrill, president of the society, will preside.

Henry Morgenthau, jr., just named by President Roosevelt as governor of the new Farm Credit Administration, will explain this important national development in an address during the Farm and Home Hour, broadcast daily over WMAL at 12:30 p. m. The subject of his talk will be "The Merger of the Farm Credit Agencies."

The two-billion-dollar merger of the Federal farm credit agencies is one of the major actions so far taken by the new Roosevelt administration and is expected to have far-reaching effects on the agricultural situation.

COMMENTING upon the musical accomplishments of the Secretary of the Treasury, Encore, Alfred Human's bright and shining new musical magazine, which made its first appearance recently, goes on to say:

"Former Vice President Charles G. Dawes composed music, too, with the help of a professional ghost. But the Woodin music is sterner stuff: orchestral suites, symphonic sketches, string quartets and such weighty creations.

"Give us time and we shall yet drag from obscurity the identity of the arranger who orchestrates our Treasurer's melodic inventions—jotted down on the backs of envelopes—and on thousand-dollar bank notes for all we know."

Marguerite Cromwell, accompanied by Rudolf Schramm's orchestra, will sing "My Romance," "Adios, My Senor" and "I'm Yours" during the Wilkins Quarter Hour (WRC, 7:30 o'clock) tonight.

---

Paul Dumont, 5-foot-3 former announcer, plays the 8-foot-6 giant in the "King Kong" radio serial. . . . Charles O'Connor, announcer, was an actor with Dan Frohman's summer theater company at Petersboro, N. H. . . . Alois Havrilla, whose hobby is music, has just been reelected president of the Northern Valley Civic Music Association of Englewood, N. J. . . . Ralph Kirbery, the Dream Singer, after appearing in motion picture theaters in and around New York, is now playing the Fox in Philadelphia. He may be seen locally in the near future. . . . Jeannie Lang, whose songs are heard on the Musical Grocery Store program, giggles so much at Tom Howard's lines that production men have ordered her to stand away from the microphone when not reading her own lines. . . . Burrus Williams, local pianist, will be heard at 9:15 o'clock tonight over WMAL. He was formerly featured on the morning programs.

John Chesley Marchant, 701 Nineteenth street northwest, has been appointed a second lieutenant in the Military Intelligence Reserve.

France to Reorganize Independent Air Force

Paris, March 29 (A.P.).—Reorganization of the air force with an independent command on a par with the army and the navy has been decided upon by the defense committee of the Chamber of Deputies and approved by the government.

The air force would maintain a liaison with the army and navy, and would put units under the command of each, especially in case of mobilization. Air groups would be distributed strategically in France and the colonies.

Philippines and Spain Talk Over Telephone

Manila, March 29 (A.P.).—Mayor Thomas Earnshaw, conversing with Mayor Pedro Rico of Madrid, today inaugurated radio telephone service between the Philippines and Spain. Officials in Washington, D. C., San Francisco and Manila will complete the radio telephone's circuit of the globe tomorrow and Friday.

Their voices will be linked when the initial call is put through on the first regular, westward commercial telephone service to the Far East at 8:30 p. m., Thursday in Washington, D. C.; 5:30 p. m. in San Francisco, and 7:30 a. m. Friday in Manila.

Bland Bill Referred To U.S. Shipping Board

(Associated Press.)

The Bland bill to allow only American vessels to operate from United States ports to its possessions via foreign ports on pleasure cruises has been referred to the Shipping Board by the House Merchant Marine Committee for a report.

Chairman Bland is awaiting the report before he schedules committee hearings on his measure. A similar measure sponsored by the Virginia Democrat died in the last Congress.

For further proof address the author, inclosing a stamped envelope for reply. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

IMPRESSED into what is now solid rock, dinosaur tracks may be seen in and near Moenkopi, a Hopi town in northern Arizona—tracks that were made 30,000,000 years ago.

The footprints were made when the rock was soft mud, according to geologists. Many of the tracks were undisturbed when the mud solidified and were thus turned into solid stone. The tracks have weathered millions of years of wind and rain, but are still plainly visible on the desert rock.

If you attended a banquet three or four times a week for a year or so, you would probably be tired of banquets, but if you attended one every night in the week for 20 years without missing one, you would still be 500 banquets behind Chauncey Depew, America's famous after-dinner speaker.

Mr. Depew, who once said that he attended banquets because he liked them, and that he made after-dinner speeches as a recreation, is estimated to have attended 8,000 banquets in his time. He gave so many talks that he lost track of them and, strange as it seems, he was not a professional speaker.

MAGIC IN THE PALACE.

("The Prince of Wales is studying magic. Under the tutelage of a world-famous conjurer he has learned to perform many tricks. He is now trying to master the egg-and-bag trick."—London Dispatch.)

King—Wrong?

Queen—Yes, we can't keep any eggs. The cook says she buys them but they disappear. You haven't been eating eggs on the quiet, have you, George?

King—What a silly notion!

Queen—Well, it's most mysterious.

King (who has been playing solitaire)—Oh, I say! This is most annoying. There are no aces in this deck at all.

Queen—Why don't you use another deck?

King—This is the fifth deck I've used and something's missing from each one! What can have happened?

* * * *

Queen (suddenly noticing a vase on a table)—George, I wish you wouldn't stick paper flowers in these vases.

King (quite surprised)—My dear, I haven't touched your vases.

Queen (with an ejaculation of surprise as she removes the flowers)—You've got to stop this nonsense!

King—What nonsense, my sweet?

Queen—When I took out these flowers two pigeons flew out! And I don't think it's at all funny of you.

King (as the pigeons circle the room)—I don't know a thing about them. Fancy accusing the King of England of going around stuffing pigeons in vases! I say, now!

Queen—Well, there are most peculiar goings on around here.

King—Righto! Come to think of it, did I tell you about my silk hats, dear?

Queen—No.

King—I went to get one last night and they were all battered up. One of 'em had a British flag, an old watch and an egg in it!

Queen—That's where those eggs are going! Why didn't you tell me about this?

King—I sort of thought it was one of your ideas for keeping moths out.

* * * *

(The Prince of Wales suddenly sweeps into the room.)

Prince—Hello, mother! Give papa back his wallet.

Queen—I haven't his wallet.

Prince (producing it from behind her right ear)—Yes, you have. And, dad, what's the idea of those rabbits in your waistcoat?

King (jumping up)—Rabbits in my waistcoat! Don't spoof so.

Prince (producing two rabbits from the king's waistcoat)—You really ought not to do it, father. It's undignified. Lions, perhaps, but not rabbits!

Prince—I've become a magician!

King and queen (suddenly relieved)—Thank heaven! In times like these the Empire needs one!

IN THE MEEK VOICE.

Well, if you would, then go your way
Among the shadowed throng,
I make no issue that you stay
Where heart does not belong.
Begone! I'll shed no foolish tears;
See what the rest can give you,
And stay for weeks—or months—or years—
But, please sir, take me with you.

ELEANORE AUSTIN.

SEEMS SENSELESS TO ELMER.

Elmer Twitchell can't see any sense in this plan to put thousands of men to work planting new forests. "Ain't America deep enough in the woods already?" he demands.

Woman Is Guilty On Drinking Count

Gets Suspended Sentence Despite Testimony of Doctor in Court.

Despite her protestations of innocence, Mrs. Audrey A. Martin, 26, said to be the daughter-in-law of a representative from Oregon, yesterday was found guilty of intoxication in Police Court before Judge Ralph Given. She was given a suspended sentence.

Mrs. Martin was arrested March 18 at Seventeenth and P streets northwest by Policeman Thomas O'Donnell. She claimed in court she had stooped to pick up an earring which she dropped while waiting for the patrol wagon and was pushed by the officer.

She fell, she said, and hurt her knee, causing her to limp when she went to the station. There she called for Dr. George W. Creswell, who testified she was not intoxicated. Through Attorney Harry T. Whelan, Mrs. Martin contended she was looking for a house on P street and did not know the exact address. She said for that reason she went up and down several house steps, which attracted the policeman's attention. Mrs. Martin is the wife of a civil engineer.

Mormons to Unveil Statue to Moroni

Ceremony Tomorrow Will Be Staged at New Church Site.

A statue which forms the pinnacle of the spire of the new church being erected at Sixteenth street and Columbia road by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints will be unveiled tomorrow at 5 p. m.

The figure represents the Angel Moroni, who directed Joseph Smith to the golden plates from which the Book of Mormon was translated, according to the belief of the Mormon people. It is an exact duplicate of the gold-plated figure which tops the highest spire on the Latter Day Saints Temple at Salt Lake City.

President James H. Moyle of the Eastern States Mission of this church will offer the dedicatory prayer. Dr. E. B. Brossard, president of the Washington branch, will be in charge of the ceremonies.

HOUSE TO REVIEW D. C. BILL TUESDAY; HEARINGS IN DOUBT

Officials Tell Subcommittee Budget Slashes Will Cost Jobs of 4,000.

House consideration of the sharply slashed District appropriations bill last night was definitely slated for next Tuesday, following two executive hearings on the measure yesterday before the House deficiencies appropriations subcommittee.

The District Commissioners, and District Auditor Daniel J. Donovan, went rapidly over the local estimates with subcommittee members, but were not permitted to make any recommendations for increases over budget figures.

Hearings Are Uncertain.

House Appropriations Chairman James P. Buchanan was undecided last night whether any additional hearings will be held. The probability loomed that the measure may be placed before the House, without citizens affected having any opportunity to make known their protests.

A strong undercurrent of opposition from various local quarters continued to manifest itself yesterday. District officials told members of the subcommittee that more than 4,000 men will be deprived of work in the next fiscal year because of the budget reductions, particularly those affecting school, street and bridge construction.

Sports Affected.

From another quarter it became known that sports in the public parks will have to be cut down because of the reduced appropriation for the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks.

At yesterday morning's session the Commissioners were permitted to explain to committee members a few of the serious results from the budget cuts. The afternoon session was closed to all but committee members, who talked over probable House procedure, and started marking up the bill. A veil of secrecy was thrown about both meetings.

Surviving members of the old House District appropriations subcommittee sat through both sessions, questioned witnesses and advised members of the deficiencies subcommittee.

Slash in Library Budget Assailed

Rhode Island Citizens Are Opposed to Economy Affecting Books.

Opposition to any cut in appropriations for 1934 which would curtail the operation of branch libraries was voiced last night by the Rhode Island Avenue Citizens Association at a meeting in the Sherwood Presbyterian Church Hall, Twenty-second street and Rhode Island avenue northeast.

A resolution, presented by M. C. Wilson, former president of the association, asked Congress to insure appropriations for full operation of the library system. The Woodridge Branch Library, it was pointed out, increased 60 per cent in circulation during the past two years, although it is only on a part-time basis.

Washington Irving Cleveland, president of the Kensington (Md.) Chamber of Commerce, was guest speaker. He discussed future Montgomery County development.

Representative's Charge Of Blackmail Is Probed

The District grand jury yesterday conducted a brief investigation into charges that Luther C. Sykes, 24-year-old sailor, had blackmailed Representative Walter G. Andrews, of Buffalo, N. Y.

Mr. Andrews personally appeared before the grand jury and under the guidance of United States Attorney Leo A. Rover was queried. He was followed into the jury's chamber by Earl P. Hartmann, detective sergeant, who arrested Sykes Tuesday and who conducted an investigation of the charges. Unable to raise his $10,000 bond Sykes was still being detained in the District Jail.

South American Views At Corcoran Gallery

A comprehensive series of water colors of South America by Eliot O'Hara is now on view at the Corcoran Gallery. The formal opening will take place this afternoon, and the exhibition will continue through Sunday, April 23.

Since last October, when he sailed for Rio de Janeiro, Mr. O'Hara has painted his way down the east coast, across the Andes, lingering among the glacier-fed emerald lakes; down to the Straits of Magellan, and up the west coast through Chile, Bolivia and Peru.

Chamber Head Warns Against Fur Peddlers

Beware of furs made of rabbit skin which are being sold on Washington streets by itinerant peddlers, Thomas P. Littlepage, president of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, said in a statement yesterday.

Mr. Littlepage issued the warning at the request of merchants who complained that the peddlers are claiming the furs are of expensive grades.

OLD LANDMARK DOOMED FOR JUNK YARD

News photographers will no longer be able to take that famous hot weather picture of the stout man wiping his brow while reading the report at the kiosk in front of The Post Building. Condemned because of its contradictions of the official Weather Bureau statements, the old landmark has been relegated to the junk yard. C. A. Wilkinson and N. B. Frank haul it away.

CHEVY CHASE RAPS 1934 SCHOOL SLASH

Alarmed Citizens Will Seek Hearing With Congress Committees.

Alarmed over the elimination of items for new school buildings and sites from the 1934 District budget, citizens of Chevy Chase were making strenuous efforts yesterday to be heard by the District Appropriations Committee.

Mrs. Leslie B. Wright, chairman of the buildings committee of the Alice Deal Junior High School Home and School Association, declared that she had learned on good authority that the items were struck out, because school building in Washington has advanced three times more rapidly than the increase in the school population itself.

Mrs. Wright pointed out that this acceleration has been due to efforts of the District government to take up the accumulated shortage of schoolhouse accommodations which burdened the school system prior to the five-year school building program act in 1925. The building which has gone on since that time has been in line with the program and practically no account has been taken of the normal increase of approximately 3,000 children a year, Mrs. Wright observed.

The Chevy Chase section will suffer by the elimination of the Woodrow Wilson School in Reno. This would have alleviated increasing congestion at the Western and Gordon Junior High School. Western has an enrollment of 1,800, the normal being 1,500. The enrollment at Gordon is 1,276. In 1929 it was 510; in 1931, 584.

Poison Potion Is Laid To Domestic Troubles

Frank Showalter, 25, was treated at Casualty Hospital yesterday after he allegedly swallowed poison in his room at 515 Seventh street southeast. A note indicated that domestic troubles prompted his act.

Showalter is the son of former Policeman Cecil Showalter, who killed himself several months ago.

Extra Phone-Call Charge Under Fire

Roberts Suggests Probe of Switchboard Service Levy by P. U. C.

A suggestion that the Public Utilities Commission make a study of the practice of apartment house owners and hotels charging for telephone switchboard service was submitted yesterday by William A. Roberts, special assistant corporation counsel, as a result of the recent ruling by the District Court of Appeals that submetering of electricity is discriminatory.

While it is doubtful that the commission would have jurisdiction in the matter unless the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. issued an order prohibiting the practice, as did the Potomac Electric Power Co., the matter may be taken up in future rate negotiations.

The practice with regard to apartment house switchboard service is not entirely analogous to submetering of electric current. The usual custom is to charge 50 cents or a dollar for the service over and above a flat 5-cent charge for each call. Apartment house owners contend, however, that this charge also covers the service of taking calls for residents when they are away from their apartments.

TRAFFIC TOLL TO DATE.

There are a great many cars with only one headlight. Not so much for the satisfaction of the traffic authorities, but for the purpose of preventing accidents, it is always wise to drive at night with two headlights.

The figures are:

| | 1932. | 1933. |
|---|---|---|
| Deaths | 26 | 16 |
| Injuries | 859 | 836 |
| Accidents | 1,899 | 1,946 |

"Be Careful!"

SUICIDE IS VERDICT IN CAPITAL DEATHS

One Man Takes Life With Gas While Second Uses Poison.

Certificates of suicide were issued yesterday in the deaths of Raymond J. Hafer, 36-year-old soldier, and William P. Pyne, 47, a Department of Agriculture photographer, the former by gas and the latter by poison, late Tuesday night.

The body of Hafer was found lying across his bed at 517 H street northwest by his landlady, Mrs. Mary Rosensweig. A gas tube was looped around his neck. In a note to Mrs. Rosensweig, Hafer apologized for any trouble he might cause. He also left a sealed note to Capt. George Armstrong, of Walter Reed Hospital.

Pyne was found dead in his room at a downtown hotel by an elevator operator. A drinking glass and a bottle containing a quantity of poison were found by the body.

The photographer, who lived at 1236 E street northeast, left a note ordering that all his property and money be turned over to his wife, Mrs. Lena E. Pyne.

Hecht Company Plans Festival for Children

Working in cooperation with the clothes conservation committee, the Hecht Co., starting Saturday morning, will stage a children's festival on the entire second floor of the Hecht store, Seventh and F streets northwest, with a clothes conservation booth as the central attraction. The children's festival will continue for one week.

Under plans outlined by officials of the Hecht Co., working in cooperation with the clothes conservation committee, the children will be urged to bring their old clothes to the central booth at the festival. There will be special entertainments for children every day; prizes for the best essay on purchasing a spring wardrobe; balloons carrying valuable coupons released from the roof of the building every day and other features of interest to children.

Col. C. S. Bullock Is Rotary Speaker

Edwin C. Porter, National Symphony Member, Also Talks.

Lieut. Col. C. Seymour Bullock, past director of the boys' work activities of Rotary International, was guest of honor and speaker yesterday at a luncheon of the Rotary Club at the Willard Hotel.

True internationalism is predicated upon patriotism, Col. Bullock pointed out. He declared that no person can be true to a group of nations who is not primarily true to one particular nation in that group.

Dr. Arthur C. Christie, president of the club, introduced Edwin C. Porter, representing the National Symphony Orchestra, Mr. Porter told of the musical organization developed by Hans Kindler, and of new plans for an orchestra association.

PRESIDENT INDUCTED AT PRESS CLUB FETE

Roosevelt Gets Membership Card and Assignment to Cover White House.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt was made a member of the National Press Club last night when members gathered to celebrate the silver jubilee of the world-famous club.

President Roosevelt, the sixth Chief Executive of the Nation to be a member, was presented with an engraved silver membership card by Raymond P. Brandt, president of the club, and was "assigned" by Frank B. Lord, who reported favorably on his Press Club membership application, to "cover" the White House.

News and movie cameramen photographed the ceremonies and took pictures of the President with Mr. Brandt, John Charles Thomas, noted barytone, who also was honored by the club and others.

Bascom N. Timmons handed to Mr. Thomas a commission in the famous Texas Rangers, probably awarded because of the singer's famous rendition of "Home on the Range," which he sang again last night. Morton Downey, Irish tenor of radio fame, also sang for the President and the club members and most of official Washington.

A one-act play, acted by club members and directed by Clifford Brooke, was a part of the jubilee meeting. An original play, entitled the "Stork Stalks," presented a clever play on national problems and politics.

President Roosevelt was described, in the process of his initiation as the "most promising cub reporter that ever came out of Hyde Park." He was charged with the duty of being extremely courteous to his fellow newspapermen, "to report not only the detailed doings of the President, but also to provide his fellow correspondents with carbon copies of every presidential pronouncement, and to be fully and frankly responsive to their inquiries."

"The pass word of the tribe, Mr. President," Mr. Lord told him, "is 'Whatduyeno?' and the response is 'Nuthin, whatduyeno?'"

Charter Presented Jewish Veterans

Dr. Pelzman Is Elected Commander of Newly Organized Post.

An organization charter was presented to the Washington Post, Jewish War Veterans, at a meeting last night at the Jewish Community Center, by J. George Fredman, commander in chief of the national organization; Samuel W. Silverman, chairman of the Roosevelt for President Clubs in New Jersey, and Dr. Isaac Stalberg, of Atlantic City, all of whom were instrumental in forming the local group.

Col. John A. Korman, who has been indorsed by the post for District Commissioner, outlined the purpose of the organization. He stated that the group was purely an American organization to represent the interests of Jewish veterans.

The following officers were elected by members of the Washington group: Dr. Ivan Pelzman, commander; M. A. Raines, senior vice commander; Dr. David Davis, junior vice commander; Dr. William Keroes, surgeon, and Milford Schiller, officer of the day. A delegation from the post will pay their respects at the White House at 10:30 a. m. today.

Ralph Drain Is Named Receiver for Company

Justice Joseph W. Cox, of the District Supreme Court, yesterday signed an order appointing Ralph A. Drain, president of the Rosslyn Steel & Cement Co., receiver for the company. His bond was set at $100,000.

Justice Cox's action was taken on a petition filed by the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, with offices at 806 Fifteenth street northwest, who claimed the local company owed it $30,367 as of March 25. The company, it was alleged, had liquid assets of $15,000 and liabilities of $260,000. Attorney George E. Elliott, for the Jones & Laughlin Co., filed the petition, and Attorneys Peelle & Leah, for the Rosslyn Co., consented to the receivership.

DR. LANGMUIR ASKS SHORTER WORK DAY AS CHEMISTS MEET

Nobel Prize Winner Points to Key for Prosperity; Fatal Fires Studied.

Members of the American Chemical Society had Wagner for dessert last night following an address on "Surface Chemistry," by Dr. Irving Langmuir, Nobel prize winner in chemistry.

Gathered with their friends in Constitution Hall the scientists heard Dr. Langmuir, associate director of research of the General Electric Co., tell of his discoveries in the new phase of chemical exploration and then heard the National Symphony Orchestra in a brilliant concert.

Previously Dr. Langmuir in a press interview designed to illumine his rather technical discussion launched into an outline of the Nation's ills in which he advocated "controlled inefficiency" as a way toward economic recovery.

Key for Normalcy's Return.

He pointed out that the key to any return of normalcy rested in providing employment and thus making purchasing power. To do this, he would cut the hours of labor through a constitutional amendment giving power to the Federal Government to fix labor hours according to the amount of unemployment.

Earlier in the day a new American industry was forecast by Dr. John J. Ritter, of New York University, who reported successful synthesis of camphor from turpentine. Camphor is now imported mostly from Japan.

Camphor is used in the manufacture of "shatterproof glass" and in celluloid, explosives, motion picture films and lacquers.

Fire Death Rate.

The results of experiments designed to be the foundation upon which may be reared systematic effort to cut down the fire death rate of the United States were reported to the convention by Dr. John C. Olsen, of the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute.

About 10,000 Americans lose their lives in fires annually, but research shows that a large number of these are not actually burned to death. The Cleveland Clinic and Columbus Penitentiary holocausts, in which 125 and 320, respectively, succumbed, caused the inquiry upon which the researches of Dr. Olsen and his associates embarked. In each of those cases the majority of deaths were from gases and not from the fire itself.

Accordingly, the experiments were to determine what toxic gases were produced by the burning of ordinary combustible materials. The materials were such as commonly are found in homes, wood, cotton and wool, gasoline, rubber and old newspapers. After giving detailed scientific analyses of the experiment results Dr. Olsen summarized his findings as follows:

All Types of Materials.

"The gases from all types of materials were found to contain toxic constituents in sufficient amount to make breathing of the gases dangerous or even fatal to humans in a relatively short period. Substances containing nitrogen or sulphur or both produce the most toxic gases.

Of the textiles used for clothing, draperies, carpets, &c., cotton and rayon produce the least toxic gases while natural silk and especially woolen clothing give off such deadly gases as hydrogen sulphide, hydrocyanic acid, sulphur dioxide and ammonia, as well as the deadly carbon monoxide.

Soap From Petroleum.

A discovery affecting the field of medicine was reported by Miss Cornelia Burwell, of the University of Michigan, who told of the development of a soap-like substance from petroleum which is proving of great value in the treating of skin diseases.

Man-made stone, put together from waste products of limestone quarries and ordinary shale beds, is an improvement of nature and constitutes a building material of wide application, Prof. R. Norris Shreve, of Purdue University, told the society.

This synthetic stone is made from pulverized material subject to a high pressure, he said. It can be made in any color with the addition of staining material.

Dr. Mead to Lecture Tonight.

Dr. Sterling V. Mead, dental surgeon, will give a free public lecture on "Care of the Teeth," under auspices of the Health Education Council of the Y. M. C. A. at 7:45 o'clock tonight in the auditorium of the Central Y. M. C. A.

Grab Bag

Police Find White Kitten and Hardware Cache on Prisoner.

"Maybe he is a traveling salesman," mused police of the Seventh Precinct last night, when Johnson R. Jones, 50, of 1530 Thirty-third street northwest, was brought to the station on charges of drunkenness.

But a brief investigation of Jones' pockets revealed he was more than a traveling salesman—he was the combination of a walking hardware store, pet shop and men's furnishing establishment.

An old police custom of searching a prisoner's pockets netted a gallon bucketful of the following:

Screw drivers, steel rulers, pliers, glasses, nail files, spoons, knives and forks. All pockets were emptied except one on the inside of his coat. A policeman reached in and drew out—a white kitten!

SOL HERZOG LEAVES $265,115 TO SON, 19

Legacy Under Will Includes $111,930 of Capital Real Estate.

Sol Herzog, proprietor of a clothing store at Ninth and F streets northwest, who died March 16, left his entire estate, with minor exceptions, to his son, Robert Philip Herzog, 19, of 2737 Connecticut avenue northwest.

The estate is made up of personal property, consisting of cash and stocks and bonds, valued at $93,185.92, and real estate assessed at $111,930. A $60,000 life insurance policy payable to the son is not included in the estate. For this policy Attorney Mark Friedlander was appointed guardian for the son, who is a minor and could not receive the money directly.

The real estate in the will was mentioned as being 927 G street northwest; 445 Newton place northwest; 1216 and 1218 H street northeast; 34, 36, 38 E street northwest; 51 and 53 F street northwest, and 24 lots in Hilden, Fla., described as being "unsalable."

The will, dated December 11, 1932, was written in Mr. Herzog's handwriting. He gave $50 each to the Foster Home and to the Jewish Home for the Aged.

Herzog's Work in Charity Organizations Praised

Judge Milton Strasburger, addressing members of the B'nai B'rith, District No. 5, at the Jewish Community Center last night at memorial services for Sol Herzog, who died recently, described the merchant's prominence in social and charity activities of the city. He praised Mr. Herzog's participation in the work of the Argo Lodge and of the United Hebrew Relief.

Rabbi Solomon Metz, leader of the Adas Israel Congregation, delivered the invocation and benediction of the service.

William A. Goodhart, president of the local district of the organization, told of Mr. Herzog's work in the lodge. Irving Goldstein, president of the Argo Lodge, presided.

House Gets Merger Bill For 2 Gas Light Firms

A bill to authorize merger of the Washington Gas Light and Georgetown Gas Light companies was introduced in the House yesterday by Representative Mary T. Norton (Democrat), New Jersey.

A similar measure has been introduced in the Senate. The bill passed the House last session, but died in the Senate. Special session action will be sought on the measure.

Bank Women Reelect Mrs. Judith Fishburn

Mrs. Judith M. Fishburn was reelected president of the Bank Women's Club at the annual meeting yesterday.

Alice Whitton was named vice president; Harriett Barrett, corresponding secretary; Katharine W. McCalmont, recording secretary; Mrs. Laila M. Sloat, treasurer. Virginia Marks, Elizabeth Battaile, Mary Craven and Clara McGrath were elected members of the board.

5½-DAY RULE BEGINS SATURDAY FOR 3,300 PER DIEM WORKERS

G. P. O. Also Will Extend Its Labor Time Under New Economy Program.

More than 3,300 per diem District employes will return to a five-and-a-half-day week on Saturday under an order to be issued today or tomorrow by the District Commissioners in conformance with the provisions of the new economy act.

R. M. Brennan, wage personnel officer, yesterday recommended that such an order be issued in a report to Maj. John C. Gotwals, Engineer Commissioner. While the great majority of per diem employes affected are in the Engineer Department, a scattering of day workers have been working but five days a week in the Fire Department, the Playgrounds Department and the Department of Vehicles and Traffic.

The per diem workers will not only work an additional half-day each week, but will get a smaller weekly wage than during the present fiscal year.

Suggestion of Brennan.

Whereas they have heretofore been paid on a six-day basis with a one-eleventh deduction under the 1932 economy act, they will on April 1 get a flat 15 per cent cut or an additional slash of almost 6 per cent. The basic minimum rate of pay for per diem employes is $3.65 a day.

Mr. Brennan has suggested in a report to Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor, that per diem employes who have been employed for ten months or more are entitled to fifteen days' furlough each year. This, however, may require a ruling by the Comptroller General.

The Government Printing Office may abandon the five-day week plan after April 1, it was announced yesterday by Public Printer George H. Carter. He said the plan is expected to be abandoned under the new economy legislation.

Navy Yard Policy.

The majority of the printers, Mr. Carter declared, want to retain the five-day week, but this is impossible unless a ruling is made by Comptroller General McCarl.

The Government Printing Office may be closed next Saturday, it was pointed out, because of a peculiar situation in office operations. Half-days will be observed on the following Saturdays, Mr. Carter said, unless Mr. McCarl rules otherwise.

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins yesterday ordered the five-day week abandoned in her department. Future policy of the Navy Yard, operating on the five-day plan since last July, is being considered by Assistant Secretary Roosevelt.

Mountain School Expert Lectures

Dr. Randolph Tells About Hill Folk Who Have Made Good.

Educational advantages given to hitherto untaught mountain girls and boys were described before the annual meeting of the Women's Presbyterial Society of the Washington City Presbytery yesterday in the Metropolitan Presbyterian Church by Dr. Henry S. Randolph, Farm School, Asheville, N. C.

Dr. Randolph told of a number of mountain youths who have made signal successes. He said that not only academic training but spiritual training received at the Farm School proved valuable to those taught.

Missionary work in India was discussed by Mrs. J. L. Dodds, long engaged in that field of endeavor. She took as her topic "Women's Work—Rethinking Thought." Officers of the society gave brief reports during the meeting. A luncheon was served by women of the church. Mrs. William R. Rhoades presided.

Military Schools Shown Advancing

Association, Holding 20th Annual Convention, Visits Academy.

More young men trained in military schools have attended institutions of higher learning during the last three years than during the period prior to the depression, it was revealed yesterday at the twentieth annual meeting of the Association of Military Schools and Colleges of the United States in a report submitted by Col. C. R. Endsley, of Tennessee Military Institute.

This increase was attributed to the conclusion by many parents that it would be useless for their sons to try to get employment and that it would be better for them to prepare themselves for specialized work in the future.

Lieut. Col. A. M. Hitch, president of the association, spoke. The association will end its meeting today at the Ambassador Hotel. The members went to Annapolis yesterday, where a regimental drill was presented by midshipmen in the afternoon, and a dinner was given at Carvel Hall last night.

Disabled Veterans Advised to Unite

Conley Lashes Reductions in Compensation of Injured Men.

Solidified action on the part of World War veterans was urged last night by National Commander William Conley of the Disabled Veterans of the World War in a spirited address condemning compensation reductions of former service men injured during the great conflict. The occasion was a meeting of Federal Chapter, No. 6, of the group.

Conley declared that out of 3,700 veterans in Washington entitled to compensation, less than 1,300 were affiliated with the D. A. V. and urged a great organization along these lines.

The meeting, held at the Sears-Roebuck Art Gallery, was largely attended. Music was furnished by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Band.
